BRITISH YACHTSMEN SAY RULES DISREGARDED

SOPWITH WILL NOT CHALLENGE AGAIN BITTER FEELING OVER AMERICA'S CUP RACE BRITAIN'S BAD LUCK IN FINAL STRUGGLE

NEWPORT, SEPT. 25.
"I DEFINITELY WILL NOT CHALLENGE AGAIN FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP," MR. T. O. M. SOPWITH DECLARES.
DEJECTED AND DISILLUSIONED, LIKE A MAN OVERWROUGHT, MR. SOPWITH, OWNER OF ENDEAVOUR AND CHALLENGER FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP, NEVERTHELESS CHATTED FREELY TO BRITISH JOURNALISTS AFTER THE DISASTROUS SIXTH RACE TO-DAY. BY BAD LUCK ENDEAVOUR LOST THIS DECISIVE CONTEST BY THE BARE MARGIN OF FIFTY YARDS, AND RAINBOW THUS RETAINED THE TROPHY.
The Endeavour's designer, Mr. Nicholson, was so disgusted with the whole contest that he could scarcely contain himself. He says he is returning to England to-morrow aboard the Mauretania.
The British yachtsmen declared that it was not only a question of both sides not agreeing over the interpretation of the rules, but the Americans' complete disregard of the rules.

ABANDONED PROTEST

Mr. Sopwith has abandoned his protest, it was announced shortly after the conclusion of the race. He will not even try to cause a re-sail of the last contest, though his protest flag flew early in the day.
All of America is loud in the praises of Mr. Sopwith and his gallant attempt to wrest the cup from the holders for the first time in history. Mr. Vanderbilt, in common with the experts, admits that the Endeavour was the fastest boat, and her defeat was caused more by faulty tactics and inferior work on the part of the crew, than anything else.
The Rainbow yesterday won the sixth race, finishing 50 yards ahead of the Endeavour, with a margin of 54 seconds. There was a brilliant finish to the race, the challenger covering the last few miles at a terrific rate to come within a boat's length of the Rainbow after being a mile behind.
PROTEST WITHDRAWN.
Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith has withdrawn his protest in the sixth Cup race. This means that America wins the Cup. It is believed that the protest was made on the grounds that the Rainbow, when overtaking the Endeavour, failed to keep clear, and balked the challenger.
It is also alleged that the Rainbow hoisted her protest flag, though it was up to the Endeavour to do so. By such an action the Rainbow anticipated the Endeavour's protest.
The Endeavour put up one of the greatest fights in history and acquitted herself nobly on the first and last legs of the race to-day.
MISTAKE IN TACTICS.
Unfortunately she went too far leeward in the second leg, while Mr. Sopwith failed to change the headsails early enough.
Nevertheless the decisive factor in the result was the jamming of the Endeavour's spinnaker after rounding the second buoy which cost the yacht several precious minutes.
If it had not been for that she would unquestionably have been first by a greater margin than the Rainbow had to win, for, apart from the time lost, once the spinnaker was set, the Endeavour was like an express train.
It is generally agreed that the Endeavour was the faster of the two boats, and probably the fastest "3" class boat ever launched.
Describing the latter stages of the race, Reuter says that at 1.10 p.m. the wind freshened to ten knots. The Rainbow was to windward and the Endeavour to leeward, two miles away. The Rainbow, taking a long starboard tack, almost

PEER'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL Marquis Of Waterford Found Shot

London, Sept. 25.
A verdict of "Accidental Death" was returned at the inquest to-day on the Marquis of Waterford, aged 33, who was this morning found fatally shot in a room at his house in County Waterford, where he had gone to get a sporting gun to shoot a hare he had seen on the lawn.
The Marquis, seventh holder of the title, succeeded his father in 1911. He was formerly a Lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards, but resigned his commission in 1927. The heir to the title is Lord William Mostyn de la Poer Beresford, a Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery. —British Wireless.

Sopwith's Boat Fastest Afloat

CREW CRITICISED BY EXPERTS
Newport, Sept. 25.
The Endeavour, though defeated, is the fastest thing of her size afloat and would have won had she had a better trained crew and a more experienced helmsman. This is the general opinion of American yachting correspondents.
The Providence Herald expert, Mr. Jeff Davis, said Mr. Sopwith was experienced and handicapped by an amateur crew, who, with a limited time for drill could not be expected to equal professionals.
Mr. George Currie of the Brooklyn Eagle, says: "If over a ship was butchered, the Endeavour was."
Mr. Bill Swan of the Boston Post, says: "The Endeavour is the fastest yacht that ever sailed for the Cup. Mr. Sopwith lacks experience."
Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., says: "Mr. Sopwith is a fine helmsman, but it is a pity that his crew did not have longer training. The Race Committee's throwing out of the Endeavour's protest was unfair and Mr. Havemeyer (official American observer on Endeavour) ought to have resigned and told the Committee of his error."
It was on Mr. Havemeyer's advice that Mr. Sopwith delayed hoisting his protest flag on Saturday. —Reuter.

HUGE CUNARDER LAUNCH TO-DAY

QUEEN MARY TO CHRISTEN NEW RECORD-BREAKING LINER

NAME STILL KEPT CLOSE SECRET
(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")
London, Sept. 25.
The best-kept secret of modern times is the name of the gigantic Cunard-White Star liner, No. 534. Nor will it be divulged one moment before Her Majesty the Queen herself utters it at 2.10 p.m. to-morrow (G.M.T.) as she christens the greatest steamship ever built.

Every vantage point along the Clyde is occupied already by improvised grandstands. The scene is like that of a colossal arena, accommodating hundreds of thousands of people.
The ceremony will be broadcast to the whole of the British Empire.

Pari-Mutuel Tickets Reduced

TWO DOLLARS IN PLACE OF FIVE
The Stewards of the Hongkong Jockey Club have decided to reduce the price of all pari-mutuel tickets from $5 to $2. The reduction will take effect at the 8th Extra Race Meeting, to be held on October 6 and 10, and will continue until further notice.
Tickets for "big" bets of ten chances will be obtainable at a separate counter at a cost of $20 each.
The recent reduction in the price of sweep tickets to $1 has been a great success, and it is expected that the bringing down of the price of pari-mutuel tickets to $2 will also prove to be justified.

MONGOLIAN PRINCE MURDERED

GANG ATTACK NEAR HARBIN
Harbin, Sept. 25.
A sensation has been created in Manchukuo circles by the assassination of a pro-Japanese Mongolian Prince, Chier-tu-wang, which took place at Machelakow, some distance to the south of Harbin, early yesterday morning.

CLOSE FRIEND OF JAPAN

The Prince was just alighting from a motor-car when he was taken by surprise by a group of gunmen, who fired at him point-blank with pistols.
The Prince was struck by several shots and was instantly killed.
Two of his followers were seriously wounded.
The gunmen, who styled themselves "volunteers," managed to escape before the arrival of Manchukuo police.
According to another report, the Prince was proceeding to Changchun after completing a mission at Harbin. —Central News.

GENERAL JOHNSON RESIGNS

N.R.A. REFORM ENVISAGED
ROOSEVELT PREDICTION
"DEAR HUGHIE" TO REST
General Hugh S. Johnson, chief of the N.R.A. Administration, has resigned. President Roosevelt has accepted his resignation, at the same time announcing that reforms in the N.R.A. were imminent, and would probably be brought about within the next few days.

The N.R.A. had fulfilled the first phase of its usefulness, the President declared.
New York, Sept. 25.
General Hugh S. Johnson, appointed administrator of the National Recovery Act in June, 1933, resigned to-day.
General Johnson was picked by President Roosevelt as the man to force the N.R.A., which was designed to put industry back on its feet following the years of depression and consequent unemployment.
The N.R.A., in the main, suspended the anti-trust laws, allowed for a rationing of plant production and introduced the fair trade codes. It gave to labour a free hand in organisation and the right of collective bargaining.
The N.R.A. was admittedly a desperate sort of remedy, and was to operate, at the most, for a two-year period.
General Johnson's task was an arduous one, and more than once he has found himself in conflict with various groups. In recent months, he has had points of difference with the general administration and his resignation, in view of this fact, was not altogether unexpected.
RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.
President Roosevelt to-day announced from his Hyde Park home that he had accepted General Hugh Johnson's resignation.
The resignation was not unexpected in view of the few months and his dispute with Miss Perkins, the Secretary for Labour.
General Johnson's handling of the textile strike is condemned in some quarters.
New York papers this morning reported that General Johnson had been offered a position in the motion picture industry at a salary of $100,000 annually.
Mr. Bernard Baruch, Professor Moley and Mr. Gerard Swope are mentioned as possible successors of General Johnson. —Reuter.
SUPERFLUOUS JOB.
Hyde Park, Sept. 25.
General Hugh Johnson's resignation as head of the N.R.A. becomes effective on October 15.
The resignation took the form of a letter to President Roosevelt in which General Johnson declared that under the reorganization of the N.R.A. he felt that his own job was superfluous. Should he be recalled to assist the New Deal he would be ready to do so, he added.
"DEAR HUGHIE"
In reply, President Roosevelt wrote, "Dear Hughie," and proceeded to compliment him upon his hard work, assuring him of his continued friendship.
He requested General Johnson to take a complete rest, saying that the N.R.A. had fulfilled the first phase of its usefulness and the time had come for revision.
He intimated, too, that General Johnson might be recalled to public service later.
The reorganization of the N.R.A. will probably occur within the next few days and, President Roosevelt expects General Johnson to assist it, with him, when he arrives in Washington to-morrow.
Before leaving the capital, General Johnson will make a final report to President Roosevelt.

"We Can Be Clean Without Being Prudish"

SITUATION PAINTED TOO BLACK?

"I am for clean pictures, but we can be clean without being prudish," says Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, in a statement in regard to the present attitude towards pictures of a doubtful nature.

"I have always been for clean pictures," he says. "It has ever been my endeavour to produce pictures that supply clean, wholesome entertainment."

"I am aware of the present widespread agitation against unclean movies. I believe the situation is being painted blacker than it really is. I think the average motion picture is clean and wholesome."

"There are some exceptions, I am sorry to say, but the exceptions are few indeed when you consider the great number of good pictures being turned out."

"I welcome constructive, helpful, honest criticism. I am against fanatical reform. We can be clean without being prudish. We should not read double meanings into every line of dialogue."

ARLISS GETS STUDIO TO HIMSELF.

George Arliss will have the Gaumont-British studio to himself while he rehearses "The Iron Duke." Otherwise, the whole place will be closed down for the summer holidays.

Nothing in filmdom is so thoroughly rehearsed beforehand as an Arliss picture.

Meanwhile, Victor Saville, the director, is working out ideas for improving on the original script; and the Gaumont-British research department is looking into the most intimate records of the period.

KARLOFF-LUGOSI THRILLERS.

Edgar Allan Poe's famous poem, "The Raven," and the same author's brilliant short story, "The Gold Bug," are to be combined in a Universal picture starring Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi. It is claimed that the film "will reveal for the first time the mystery behind the great love drama in the famous poem."

Following this production the Karloff-Lugosi team will make another thriller, "The Werewolf of London." A werewolf, according to an old superstition, was a human being changed into a wolf, but preserving its original intelligence.

MARLENE DIETRICH IN TUSSAUD'S.

One tribute to popularity is to be modelled in wax at Madame Tussaud's. Marlene Dietrich is the latest film star to achieve this distinction.

Florence Desmond, who performed the unveiling ceremony the other day, gave some impersonations of Marlene Dietrich and other American stars. The whole ceremony was broadcast throughout the United States.

CHELYUSKIN FILM.

Herr Eisenstein, the well-known Soviet film director, who was responsible for the photography of the film, "Thunder Over Mexico," has started work on a new film in Moscow. It will deal with the adventures of the Soviet steamer Chelyuskin, which was crushed by ice in the Arctic last December, and the aeroplane rescues of the crew.

A "BLACK EYE"

If a child receives a blow over the eye, which is likely to cause a "black eye," there is no better remedy than well buttering the parts for two or three inches around the eye with fresh butter, renewing it every few minutes for the space of an hour or two. If such be well and perseveringly done, the disagreeable appearance of a "black eye" will in all probability be prevented.

A capital remedy for a "black eye" is the arnica lotion. Take of tincture of arnica one ounce, water seven ounces, to make a lotion. The eye to be bathed; by means of a soft piece of linen rag, with this lotion frequently; and, between times, let a piece of linen rag, wetted in the lotion, be applied to the eye, and be fastened in its place by means of a bandage.

£10,000 PICTURE CONTRACT.

Miss Katharine Hepburn is reported to have signed a new contract, by which she will make six pictures during the next two years.

It is said that she will be paid £10,000 for each picture.

One of them, it is stated, will be entitled "The Gorgeous Hussy."

ACTRESS LOSES £10,000 SUIT.

Miss Beatrice Lillie (Lady Robert Peel), the well-known actress, has lost her £10,000 dollar (£10,000) suit against Warner Brothers and other persons, who she alleged had made unauthorised use in an abbreviated form of her "Show of Shows."

Elsa Lanchester, wife of Charles Laughton, has been chosen to play Countess Gabrielle de Polignac in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayor's "Marie Antoinette" with her husband and Norma Shearer. "Marie Antoinette" is to be an Irving G. Thalberg production.

TRAINING OF CHILDREN

OVERCOMING FEAR NEEDS TACT

By Olive Roberts Barton

When a child is afraid of something, what are you going to do? Make fun of him, shove him at it, or bully him into a show of courage?

I wouldn't do any of them, simply because it won't be of any use.

Oh, yes, he may pretend to be braver, to laugh at a lot of water, or a dog, or a big bully of a boy. He may put up a grand front as he climbs up the dark stairs alone to bed. But these things do not mean the terror is not there just because he is trying to whistle up his courage. It is well-known that the violent effort to down a real fear by sheer force of will may make the trouble worse.

Before going into the matter of the constructive course to pursue, please let me digress for an instant.

ADULTS KNOW FEAR.

Why do we make such a fuss over the terrors of children when every adult on earth is chuck full of them? Perhaps you think you have none, that you are one of those magicians of grit who is not "afraid of God or man."

All right. You had an abscessed tooth once. Last night you felt a similar twinge on the other side. Did you laugh it off or call the dentist?

Or you were up in an airplane when the engine stopped. Below was fog and storm and a mountain. The pilot shouted, "Don't worry. We can only die once." I suppose you lighted a cigarette nonchalantly and bellowed back, "Have you heard this one?"

We're all cowards under the skin, so shame on us for our bigger, better, holier-than-thou attitude toward children. Fear is natural. Fear of death, and fear of hurt. We're born with it, far fetched unnamable horrors, called obsessive fears, (more intricate of nature), are still based on the same cause.

HOW TO HANDLE CHILD.

Now as to handling the timid child. Here are some rules.

Don't talk to him (or her) about his fear. Don't mention it at all. You may over-talk. And anyway, words mean nothing.

Never ridicule him or scold him. Don't undermine his self-respect and fertilize his inferiority by over-rating his fear. Why harp on one or two things when otherwise he is a dandy? Why not tell him he's a dandy?

Never, never "force" him into water, into the dark, at a dog, or up against a boy he is afraid of. You may regret it later if terror becomes shock and leaves a mental or emotional "scar" to haunt him forever.

TACT NECESSARY.

Use wit, kindness and tact. Homeopathic methods are best. The shallow puddle and the next day another inch or two may help him see reason about water. By degrees he may lose his fright over "big" water.

The same with the dark—light very, very gradually reduced. It may take weeks or even months. No dogs are necessary. His own experience will teach him in time that most animals may be trusted.

A big, bad brute of a boy? Never. Oh, yes, he should have other children beside nambypambies to play with and learn by degrees that he has to take his own part. But please spare the little fellow that other.

EXPERIMENTS IN REALM OF TELEPATHY

By DR. V. J. WOOLLEY

From time immemorial people have believed that they do on occasion receive messages from others by means which do not involve their ordinary senses.

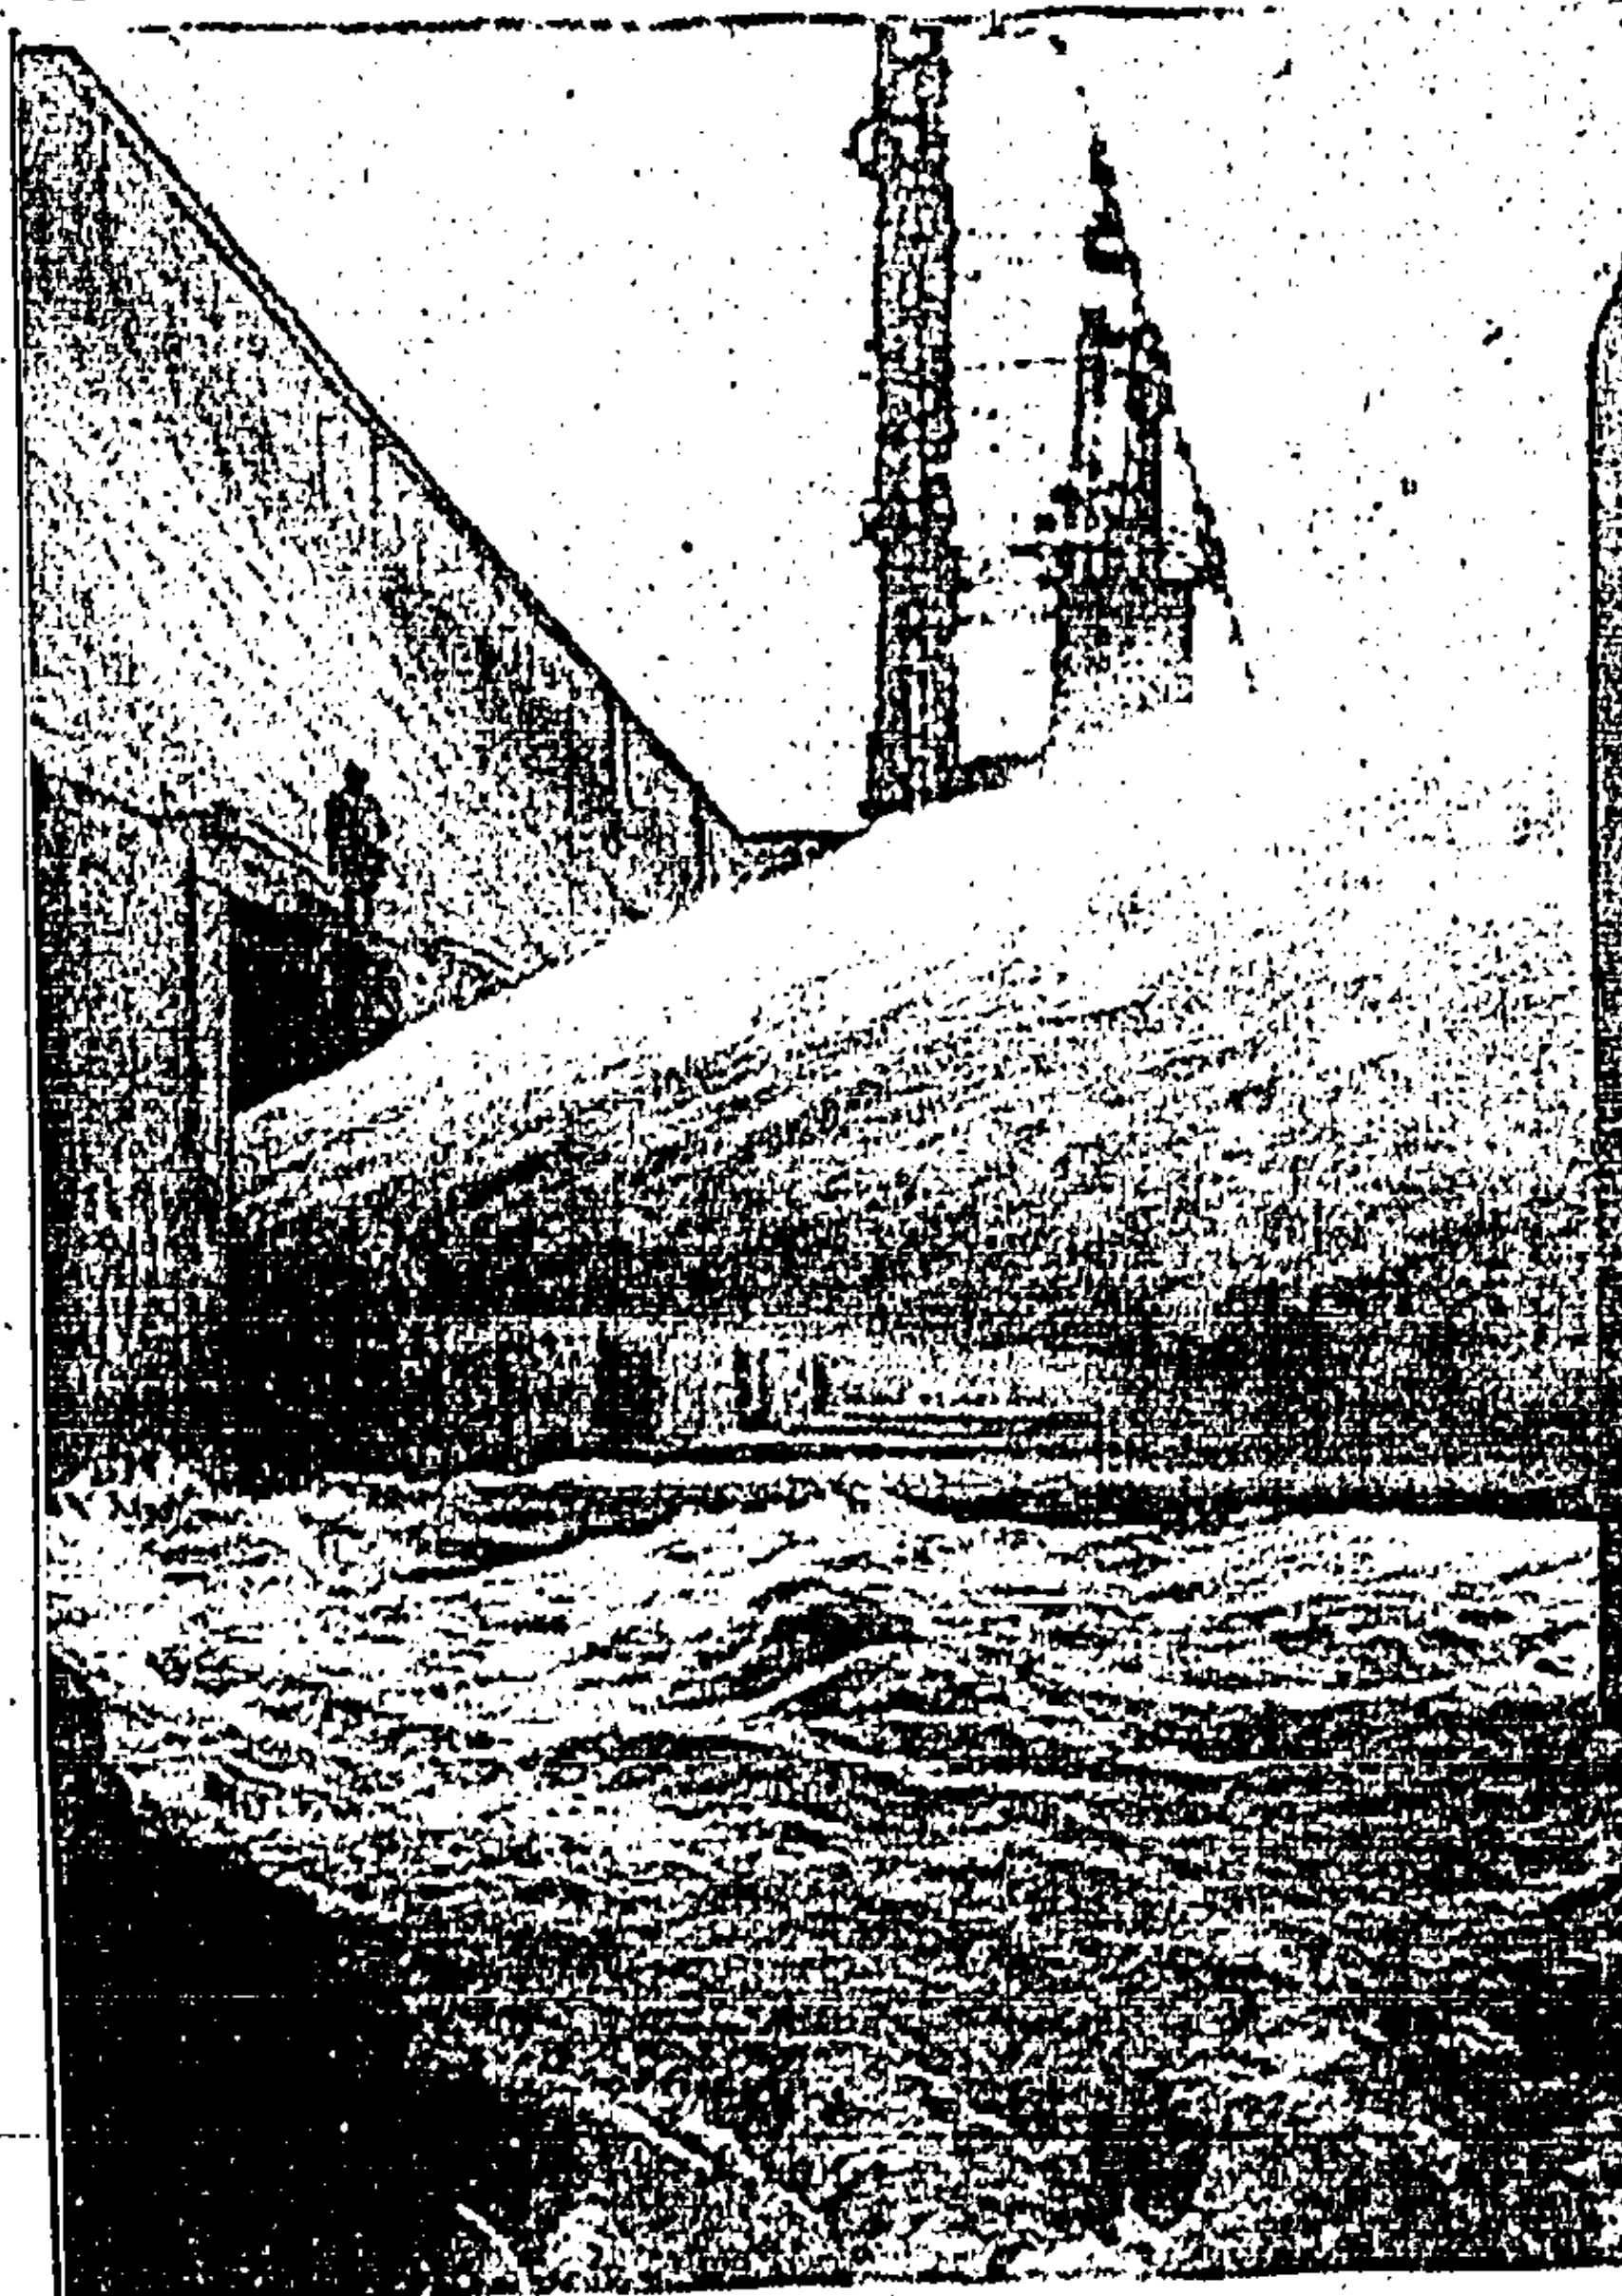

In old legend those means were most commonly their dreams, while in some races we find stories of events being perceived by what is called "second sight." Nowadays the greater number of such experiences consist in a kind of waking vision of some important event occurring to a close friend of the one who experiences the vision.

About the actual occurrence of such visions it is impossible for anyone who reads the evidence to entertain any serious doubt, and it has been usual for students of the subject to attribute such a vision to a thought-message sent by the dying man to his friend. The expression "spontaneous telepathy" was used to describe them.

Experimenters are not in the same room. It is immaterial how far apart they are, and that the process is thus independent of distance.

During the last year or two a very prolonged series of experiments has been carried out by Dr. J. D. Rhine at Duke University, North Carolina, in which an attempt has been made, in my opinion, successfully, to overcome the difficulty of computing the odds against a chance correct guess. He has confined his attempted transmissions to five simple diagrams, so that the chance of a correct guess is one in five. He has had the patience to carry out over 20,000 such experiments, and is still doing more.

Briefly, he finds that while some individuals have no gift at all, and reach only chance scores when tested, other subjects reach a result which is just a little better than pure chance would give. It

Nothing is impossible to ship-builders these days. Here is a German-American tanker getting a new "middle," after her bow and stern had been cut off to be attached to the remodelled centre hull.

By now, however, many cases have been described in which no death was involved, and the supposed sender of the message is found to have no knowledge that any message was sent, or may even not be acquainted with the person who has the vision. It is argued that many at least of these "spontaneous" cases do not involve the sending of any message, but rather a curiously heightened sensitivity of perception on the part of the visionary, a sensitivity which would better be described as clairvoyance, or by the older term of "second sight."

In "spontaneous" visions there may be such wealth of detail, such unlikely but actual incidents perceived, that chance coincidence is made wholly inconceivable. In no experiments that I have heard of has any such complete success been reached. The most that can be hoped for is a strong probability, and that only after a vast number of experiments.

Many investigators have carried out experiments in which it has been sought to transmit a thought-picture of some diagram or number or word to one or more percipients. Some readers may recall such an experiment which I conducted some years ago for the Society for Psychical Research in conjunction with Sir Oliver Lodge and the B.B.C. In that experiment no evidence for telepathy was obtained, and was, I think, hardly to be expected.

But in experiments in which the agent and percipient have been close friends there has often been evidence for a true telepathic transmission. The value of that evidence has been very difficult, or impossible, to gauge, because it has been impossible to say what has been the odds against a guess being correct by pure chance.

Notwithstanding these difficulties, however, such experiments have thrown a definite light on certain aspects of the problem. They have indicated first that different people vary greatly in their ability to receive and possible to transmit such messages; second, that the same person varies greatly at different times; and, third, and chiefly, that if the agent and per-

"BURIED" MAN FOUND LIVING

MOTHER'S DISCOVERY AT HOSPITAL

A mistake in the identity of a man who had been buried after a motor accident, in which four persons had been killed and two injured, was revealed at Preston Infirmary when a mother, who believed that her son was the man who had been buried, stood beside a patient's bed and said: "Harry, my son!" Harry Boocock, 34, of Wilberforce Street, Bradford, the man in bed, who had lately recovered from unconsciousness, smiled, and whispered "Mother!"

The man's wife, Hannah Boocock, was killed in the motor accident and was buried with the man thought to be her husband. In the accident, a man stated to be Ronald Mackillop, was seriously injured, and his wife, Annie Mackillop, was killed. Doubts about this man's identity were raised by members of the Mackillop family who went to see him at the infirmary, and the police, suspecting that the man might really be Boocock, got into touch with Boocock's mother and brother, who travelled to the infirmary and immediately recognized him. It now appears that the man buried with Mrs. Boocock, as her husband is Ronald Mackillop.

When the inquest on the bodies of the four persons killed in the accident was opened all the dead were identified by members of their respective families. The man believed to be Boocock was identified by his sister-in-law, and Mrs. Mackillop by her mother. The identification was rendered difficult, however, by the fact that all the victims had been severely injured about the head.

The burial of the man, who now appears to be Ronald Mackillop, and Mrs. Boocock took place at Bowling Cemetery, Bradford. The interment was a double one, Mrs. Mackillop being buried on the same day.

The two families are now waiting for official action, so that Mackillop may be reburied with his wife.

GIVE A COWBOY ENOUGH ROPE

AND HE'LL LASSO TROUBLE

A cowboy who had been appearing at a rodeo at Winnipeg was fined £2 because he lassoed a woman while she was watching the rodeo parade.

The cowboy's name was Eugene Pardee, and a charge of assault was laid against him by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wellwood, of Winnipeg.

It was stated that Mrs. Wellwood was standing on a street corner as the cowboys rode past, when suddenly Pardee tossed his lasso over her and dragged her up to his horse.

is so little better that it would be overlooked unless a vast number of tests were made, but when they are made these results can be shown to have occurred against odds of hundreds of millions to one.

He has further found that the accuracy of the process is increased by substances which stimulate the brain, such as caffeine, and abolished by narcotics.

Like previous experimenters, he has tried the effect of increasing the distance between the agent and percipient, sometimes reaching 250 miles; and he finds that distance makes no difference to his results.

This last fact seems to me to be of the greatest importance if we wish to discover anything about the method of transmission of these impressions. It is tempting at first to regard such a transmission as something like an electric vibration, like those of our wireless sets. But if we find that the transmission is independent of distance we are bound to discard such a view.

All the ordinary transmissions of energy diminish rapidly with increasing distance from their source. The telepathic transmission seems to take place in mental world where space no longer exists as it does in the physical universe.

But no descriptions of other people's experiments are as useful as those we make ourselves. I suggest a simple one which anybody who is interested could repeat.

The experimenter chooses a number from one to five and tries to will that number into his subject's mind. If the subject thinks he has got it, he says what it is, and the experimenter notes "right" or "wrong" on paper. After trying twenty-five times, see whether there are more than five "rights."

Of course, there should be five by chance guessing, but if there are more, and if you repeat it with several more series of twenty-five, you may find that your subject gets regular scores of, say, six or seven, and even without going as far as Dr. Rhine, you may satisfy yourselves that there is something in it.

The Archdukes Joseph and Albrecht are pictured marching in the St. Stephen's Day procession in Hungary commemorating the works of Hungary's first King, a great teacher of Christianity.

CASABIANCA TO BE HONOURED

Hero Of L'Orient Remembered

It is announced that a French submarine of the 1930 programme which is now building and was to have been called the Casabianca is to receive instead the name Casabianca. The change was made at the suggestion of M. Pietri, the Minister of Marine, who considered that the names of North African towns were sufficiently represented already in the French Navy. M. Pietri prefers, as a good Corsican, to preserve the memory of his countryman, Captain Luce de Casabianca, whose small son "stood on the burning deck" of the Orient at the Battle of the Nile, as recorded by Mrs. Hemans in her poem. Two ships of the French Navy, a man-of-war which served from 1857 to 1877, and a mine-layer which was sunk in the Aegean in 1916 have previously borne the name.

M. Pietri has also settled a long controversy over the gender which should be given to French ships in quoting their names. A ship is regarded in France as masculine, and there have in the past been those who insisted on speaking of, for instance, "le Normandie" and "le Provence" when naming these ships, though those names are feminine. M. Pietri has now decreed that the definite article in such cases is to conform to the gender indicated by the ship's name and that it is not to be omitted except in telegrams.

EMPLOYER REBUKED

MISERABLE WAGE FOR CHAUFFEUR

Clapping greeted the Magistrate's rebuke at Liverpool, of a witness because of the low wage he had paid an employee.

The case was one in which Roland Evan Hughes (28), of Upper Heskisson Street, Liverpool, was summoned for embezzling £6, 18s. 7d. from his employer, Charles Pink, wholesale jeweller, Paradise Street, Liverpool.

Mr. J. H. Neville, on behalf of Hughes, said he was a married man with one child, and he took on the job of chauffeur to Mr. Pink for 25s. a week, being content to earn that small sum, rather than be on the "dole." As he had to work seven days a week, he was compelled to relinquish the position of church organist at £20 a year.

The Deputy Stipendiary, Mrs. S. C. V. Addinell asked Mr. Pink how he came to employ a married man, 28 years of age, at 25s. a week.

Mr. Pink—That is the price he asked.

The Deputy Stipendiary, speaking with indignation—"Do you know what it costs a man to live? Do you think it is a decent thing to employ a man for a week of seven days at such a rate? I am going to punish this man."

Mr. Pink—I don't want that, but you can do as you like."

The Deputy Stipendiary—Don't be impertinent. So far as you are concerned I only regret he has not taken more of your money than he has. (This remark was greeted with hand-clapping from the spectators gallery.) You have been asking for it.

Addressing Hughes, the Deputy Stipendiary said that he was not punishing him because he was a married man, but because he was taking his employer's goods.

Defendant was bound over.

MEMORIAL TO CAPT. COOK

GRANITE FROM AUSTRALIA

Thirty-nine blocks of granite, hewn from the rocks of Cape Everard, Victoria, the first point of Australia sighted by Captain James Cook, the Yorkshire navigator, arrived at Hull last night in the steamer Cormorant.

The granite blocks will be erected as an obelisk in memory of Captain Cook at Great Ayton, in North Yorkshire, on the site of the cottage which was his former home. The cottage itself was taken down and shipped from Hull to Australia, where it has been re-erected in Melbourne.

This will add to the monuments which exist in memory of the famous sailor, on the heights of Easby Moor stands a monument erected to his memory in 1827 by Robert Campion of Whitley, and there is also a memorial to several members of Captain Cook's family in the churchyard of Great Ayton, which is said to have been carved by Cook and his father, Captain James Cook.

IN OUR WINDOWS THIS WEEK

we are showing three kinds of light weight dress shirts, each one suitable for the present humid weather, each one undoubtedly correct.

TRICKERY ALLEGED.

CHINESE CHARGED WITH ATTEMPTED THEFT

Lau Kwai-cheung, unemployed, appeared before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, charged with attempting to steal, by a trick, $1,500 from the Kwong Sui Cheung Import and Export firm, No. 64 Des Voeux Road Central.

Defendant was also charged with attempting to obtain the same sum of money by false pretences, it being alleged that he pretended to be authorized to collect on behalf of the Kwong Yik Cheong firm of Shanghai.

Mr. T. P. K. Kemble, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, appeared for the defence and pleaded not guilty.

Detective-Inspector Fraser, of West Point Police Station, prosecuting, said the Kwong Sui Cheung firm had a business connection with the Kwong Yik Cheong firm at Shanghai for the past six months. The Hongkong firm sent orders for Chinese medicine roots and the custom was for the local firm to make payments through the local bank.

On September 8, the Hongkong establishment received from Shanghai the first and last part of the letter referred to in business which had been transacted between the two firms. The middle part of the letter referred to a man named Chang Yat-tong who was stated to have asked to be allowed to withdraw $1,500 from the Shanghai establishment. He wanted the money to be drawn in Hongkong by one Ho Pak-pong, a clerk at the local office.

Unusual Request.

The complainant in the case, Tang Hoi, who had charge of the business of the Hongkong firm, was suspicious of the letter for three reasons, namely, that the request was rather unusual; the handwriting was different from all other letters received from Shanghai; the cheon also differed from the cheon usually used.

Tang Hoi made no complaint to the Police but made his own arrangements with his kiosk. The following evening when the defendant called at the Kwong Sui Cheung firm, it is alleged he presented himself to be Ho Pak-pong and stated he had been sent to collect $1,500 on behalf of his brother.

The complainant sent for a constable and the defendant was arrested and taken to No. 7 Police Station. When the complaint was being laid, defendant stated that he had received the letter from a man named Wong. Later he said that Wong was living at room No. 404 at a boarding house at No. 121 Connaught Road West. Sergeant Fraser and a Chinese detective went to the place but Wong had left at 7 p.m. that evening. He had not been out previously during the afternoon.

Evidence was taken after which the hearing was adjourned till Thursday afternoon.

YANGTSE ALARM

FOREIGNERS FIRED ON BY SOLDIERS

Shanghai, Sept. 25. A party of English and American residents who were in a houseboat up-country this week-end narrowly escaped death when they were fired on by Chinese soldiers.

Two members of the party, Miss Vida Peach, a member of Reuters' staff, and Mr. Edmund Lewis, were walking in the moonlight along the Railway embankment 30 miles up the river when they were challenged by the soldiers. They stood still and replied that they were foreigners, whereupon the soldiers fired several rounds.

Miss Peach and Mr. Lewis took cover and, when the firing ceased, made a race for the houseboat which was moored in a nearby creek.

The party then set sail for Shanghai.—Reuters.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

IMPROVED MARKET YESTERDAY

The following reports on the New York stock market have been received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz: The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's markets: Stocks were upward, due to bullish business news, including the improvement in steel production, plus expectation of favourable railroad news shortly. Traders have displayed more interest. The high price of silver in London and Shanghai is attributed, in some quarters, to purchase by the United States Government. Bonds were irregular. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were strong. Wheat prices rallied, due to the oversold condition of the market.

S. C. and F. New York office cables: The stock market rallied briskly in a good volume of trading on cheerful rumours as to the Administration's attitude towards business. Picking companies are raising their wages by 8%. The August net income of the first ten reporting railroad companies shows a decrease of 17% from the corresponding period of last year. The daily average production of crude oil totaled 2,540,000 barrels for the week ended September 22nd, as compared with 2,488,000 barrels the previous week. Business done: $40,000.

New York and Chicago commodity reports received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz: Cotton: The technical reaction was influenced by the stocks market and settlement of October Notices, which leaves the market well liquidated. With uncertainty regarding a full settlement of the textile strike and the next Government estimate still ahead, purchase on reactions for moderate profits appears to be advisable. "Spot" houses are absorbing near month liquidation.

Grains: The market rallied well and the cash position continues strong. We think purchases on reactions for moderate profits are advisable. It is reported that Argentine has reduced wheat prices by 4%. This commodity is now offered at 68 cents, c.i.f., which is equivalent to $1.17 New York duty paid.

Sugar: "Spot" sugar was firm on demand for immediate supplies, pending a clarification of the Cuban policy.

Rubber: The market was steady, but featureless.

HINDENBURG'S SON.

RETIRES FROM ARMY TO WRITE MEMOIRS

Berlin, Sept. 25. Colonel Hindenburg, son of the late President of the German Republic will retire from the German army on September 30, with the rank of Major-General. It is understood Colonel Hindenburg wishes to retire in order to devote himself to farming and writing his memoirs.

The Colonel never played a prominent role in the Reichswehr. His duties as aide-de-camp to his father occupied most of his time. —Reuter Special.

HOME POLITICS

The impending reassembly of Parliament is giving rise to speculation at Home as to the precise time the Government will choose to make an appeal to the country. There is a suggestion that the General Election could with advantage take place in the autumn of next year, but a feeling also prevails that it might be better tactics to postpone the discussion until the following spring, as the Chancellor of the Exchequer would then be given an opportunity of introducing two popular Budgets. There is, of course, no reason why the Government should make an early appeal to the electors, unless it be the known divisions which have sprung up in both the Labour and Liberal Parties. With the Opposition divided, the chances of the National Government being returned to power would be enhanced. There have recently been some attempts to get the Liberal and Labour executives to agree to a working agreement in the next General Election, in the hope that National candidates will be prevented from securing victories in certain constituencies by reason of a split in the Progressive vote, but so far no definite understanding has been reached. Indeed, at the Liberal Summer School at which this issue was the predominant one, one of the Labour visitors, a candidate for Parliament, bluntly declared that a far better alternative would be for the Liberals to take a bold step and merge themselves in the Labour Party. This idea is not quite so far-fetched as might seem at first sight, since it has become increasingly apparent in bye-elections that the Liberal Party continues on the decline. If recent indications can be taken as a guide, indeed, it seems that the Liberals are in distinct danger of complete extinction as a separate political unit. The tendency may be regretted, but it will have to be faced in course of time. When all is said and done, there is very little real difference between Liberal ideals and those of the moderate controlling element in the Labour Party. With regard to internal dissension, this is not nearly so marked in the case of the Labourites as it is with the Liberals, although the extre-

NOTES OF THE DAY

BRITAIN'S CHALLENGE

To-day, for the first time in British history, a Queen of England will christen a merchant ship. But what a ship! The new Cunard-White Star liner, No. 534 until this afternoon, but probably to be named Britannia by the Queen as the vessel slips into the Clyde, is the largest thing afloat. She will be something over 83,000 tons when completed, 1,018 feet in length, eleven decks towering up from her waterline. Her speed will be something around 30 knots, and will enable her to make the Atlantic crossing in four days with ease. There is a chance that the huge ship will tour the British Empire before she goes into schedule sailings, and it is therefore possible that Hongkong may have a view of her.

RICH PRIZES

Cunard-White Star will have the two biggest vessels afloat when Britannia's sister-ship is launched, and plans are already well advanced for her construction. But even before Britannia's sister is ready for work, the race for Atlantic prizes will have commenced. Germany, with the Europa and Bremen, France with her nearly-completed Normandie, Italy with her luxury liners, all are bidding for the cream of the trans-oceanic trade, the rich passenger bookings and big mail subsidies. The fastest vessels get such plums. Britain, when Britannia and her sister-ship are sailing together, should fill her basket.

COST OF INDEPENDENCE

The ardent Mr. de Valera, with his doctrines of independence for the Free State, may presently force the exodus of at least one of the greatest of Irish industries. Arthur Guinness, Son & Co., Dublin, in any event, and in the future the entire plant may be removed to Britain. The removal project has been discussed ever since Mr. de Valera assumed power. The firm's trade lies mostly outside the Free State. It does not wish to be separated from the British fiscal system and it is fairly certain that if the Free State seceded from the Empire, Guinness would "secede" from the Free State. It is a preliminary to the possibility of secession that 25 per cent. of the Guinness plant is going "over the water."

UNEMPLOYMENT

The loss to Dublin will be felt immediately. Six kieves of the Dublin brewery are being moved to London, which will leave 18 in Ireland. Despite the fact that the business is extending so rapidly, employees of the brewery—in the Free State will suffer loss of time. To give an idea of the earnings and expenditures of the company, in a good year Guinness has paid 210,000,000 in Government duty, 115,000,000 gallons of porter and stout. Some 14,000 persons in Dublin depend upon the company for a livelihood at the present time. The firm is distinctly Irish, Lord Iveagh, like his father, being a Chancellor of Dublin University, and for the past six generations the family has been connected with the Irish capital. But business is business, as Mr. de Valera would be the first to admit, and they may not stay.

mists led by Sir Stafford Cripps look like creating trouble for the Party as a whole. So far as the National Government is concerned, it has a record of which it need not feel ashamed. It has straightened out the national finances and its general economic policy has without doubt contributed to the better state of affairs now prevailing. The unemployment problem, has, admittedly, not been solved, but any real impression on this issue will have to await the general improvement in world conditions. With the working-classes, the Government is not too popular, due to a feeling that the Conservative element in the Administration has dominated the situation to such an extent that the masses have not received a full share of consideration in the sphere of domestic legislation. It is conceivable, however, that the Government, during the remaining period of its tenure of office, will make an effort to placate the working-classes, possibly by making Budget concessions in their favour. No-one can say at this stage what the likely fate of the Government will be at the next election, but if the cards are skillfully played, there is no reason why it should not receive a vote of continued confidence from the electorate.

SPAIN'S FOUNDATIONS TREMBLE AGAIN

By A. EDDY

Since the disappearance of authority in the person of King Alfonso the rumblings of the underground forces tearing the foundations of the Spanish Republic have become more and more pronounced.

The economic depression intensified by the recent elevation of customs barriers against Spanish agricultural products in the neighbouring countries; the almost complete disappearance of overseas remittances from Latin America and the thousands of continually returning destitute Spaniards from Central and South America, have aggravated the employment problem tremendously. Perhaps the most hospitable country in Europe, Spain was the last one to prohibit the employing of newly arrived foreigners in the country's industries and commerce.

All the above factors, however, are only the contributory causes of a chronic economic and political "malaise" or unhealthy condition, the roots of which lead us back to the policy of the former ruling house as well as to the boom conditions of the war—and early after the war period.

The standard of living of the Spanish worker in the pre-war days was much below that of the Western European countries and a large percentage of the land was concentrated in the hands of the aristocrats and the Church who, as in Hungary, constitute at present the royalist party pinning for the return of the king.

The badly organised and unsuccessful attempt of General Sanjurjo in 1932 to seize the power "to put an end to the foreign influence in Spain" (this refers to imported radical theories) was manœuvred and financed by them, and indications show that, although out of the open political game for the time being, they are still a powerful factor in the national life of Spain.

Spain, with the exception of Catalonia and the region of Bilbao, (Basque country) is chiefly an agricultural state. During the war, however, there was a great demand for agricultural as well as manufactured products by the Allies and her industries developed partly to supply that demand and partly to step into the shoes of European exporters in the Latin-American markets. The origin of many manufactured articles advertised as "producto ingles," especially textile goods, sold in Latin-America during the war was traceable to sunny Spain, whose merchants enjoyed a golden shower coming from the warring factions and from hungry overseas importers clamouring for goods at any price.

The post war period found Spain with large stocks of low quality manufactured goods and a comparatively overdeveloped industry unable to hold its own in face of the resumption of exports by the Allies, Germany and Japan, with depreciated currencies as compared to the high value of the peseta at that time. The resulting shrinkage in trade and agricultural activity is one of the immediate causes responsible for the restricted economic activity in Spain. Like most countries where boom conditions prevailed during the war, Spain failed to adjust her production to normal conditions and is now suffering the consequences as experienced in other lands under similar conditions.

The Wilsonian principle of self-determination of the small nations has added a new impetus to the slumbering ambitions of the different nationalities in Spain and further complicated the cause of peace on the Iberian Peninsula. After the Catalans, there are the Basques and Gallegos who want autonomy. Living in the mountainous regions of the Bay of Biscay, the Basques, Europe's oldest inhabitants, whose language has no resemblance to any other European tongue and who were the only people able to completely withstand the effects of the Roman civilisation, lived their own national life and had their original customs up to the last century. However, they had to succumb to the relentless centralising policy of the Bourbon dynasty, with whose reign the flame of national life has become again active.

The Gallegos, occupying the Northwestern corner of Spain and having a strong racial and cultural affinity with the Portuguese, also clamour for autonomy. Even the Asturians, (Middle North of Spain), Andalusians and Valencians (these last also have a different language, which was the native tongue of Blasco Ibañez) voice now and then their desire to break away from the authority of Madrid, which, in their opinion, represent the old type hidalgo element still savouring of feudalism.

The labour organisations in Spain have always been of a distinct type (influenced by the Italian anarchist writer Malatesta) from the rest of Europe. Academically and individually great "politicians, practically and collectively the workers in Spain are against politics as a means of solving the social question.

How strong the anarcho-syndicalists (organised into purely economic federations) had become during the War was remarkably proven by the occasional general strikes staged by them, completely paralysing the economic activity of the entire country. Their power has declined considerably during the last few years and many of the recent labour movements have been organised by agitators of the Soviet school. The Spanish labourers, in general, however, accept the principles of the Marxists, but not the tactics employed by them.

The industrial districts of Barcelona and Bilbao are saturated with syndicalist tendencies, while the communally-minded agrarians are active mostly in Southern Spain, especially in Andalusia where large tracts of land are now being exploited by the workers themselves, who turn over to the landlord only a small portion of the crops collected.

The political tug-of-war in Spain to-day is between the still persisting feudal spirit (which exists notwithstanding the numerous social and land reforms) and the rising power of the agrarian and industrial workers in the country. It is very doubtful whether by adopting a more liberal and decentralising policy and organising the Government along federal lines, Madrid will be able to forestall a revolution which has been hanging over Spain like the sword of Damocles for the last three years.

NANKING OFFER TO TIBETHand Of Friendship
And Co-operation

Nanking, Sept. 26.
General Huang Wu-sung, Chinese Special Envoy to Lhasa, capital of Tibet, has conveyed the following summarised points of opinion of the Tibetan people as to the best measures to improve relations between the Central Government and Tibet:

- (1) Readjustment of the disputed boundary lines between Tibet and Sikkim;
- (2) Steps to be taken to strengthen the cordial relations of Tibet and Sikkim;
- (3) Large scale development of mining industry, agriculture, postal service and telegraph in Tibet;
- (4) Expansion of cultural work, and
- (5) Restoration of land communications between Tibet and Sikkim.

The Nanking Government has referred these suggestions to the Mongolian and Tibetan Affairs Committee for careful consideration.—Central News.

COTTON INDUSTRY
RE-ORGANISATIONImportant Step In Lancashire

London, Sept. 25.
An important step towards reorganisation of the cotton industry in Lancashire was taken at Manchester to-day, when a mass meeting of spinners of Egyptian yarn decided upon a legal agreement for fixing prices.

This agreement replaces the gentlemen's agreement which has been in operation for nearly a year. When completed, it will provide for inspection of mill books and the imposition of fines for breaches of the agreement. It is anticipated that both sections of the cotton industry will follow a similar course with a view to ending undercutting in prices.—British Wireless.

AMATEUR PHOTO
EXHIBITIONVARSITY SHOW BIG SUCCESS

The Third International Salon of Photography organised by the Hongkong University Amateur Photographic Club is attracting many residents to the Union Assembly Rooms at the University.

That the exhibition is thoroughly international in character is indicated from the fact that entries have been received from no less than twenty-one countries, some of the competitors being world famous in the sphere of photography.

The Club is to be congratulated upon its enterprise and the manner in which the Salon has been organised, while it is doubtless a source of satisfaction to know that amongst its members are several whose work ably competes with that of photographic experts abroad.

The Salon remains open to the public daily from noon to 8 p.m. until the 30th instant, admission being free.

REPULSE BAY
ATTRACTIONSANDS AND DAWN TO APPEAR TO-NIGHT

Patrons of the Repulse Bay Hotel's usual mid-week dinner dances will have another opportunity of meeting Marty Sands and Mildred Dawn this evening.

The American personality pair have attained such popularity in Hongkong that their return season, originally fixed for a fortnight, has been lengthened into two months. Judging by the way in which crowds are flocking to the Hongkong and Repulse Bay Hotels whenever the entertainers are scheduled to appear, their popularity shows no sign of waning.

In addition to this evening's appearance at the Repulse Bay Hotel, Sands and Dawn will appear in conjunction with Marta and Marya at the Hongkong Hotel on Saturday night.

TWO ATTEMPTED
SUICIDESWOMEN ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Two women attempted suicide yesterday.
Li Chi, living at 208 Canton Road, Kowloon, drank the contents of six phials of Po Sam On oil, a medical preparation, and was admitted to the Kwong Wah Hospital in a serious condition.

Opium was taken by the other woman, Lai Yim, living at 33 Shantung Street, who was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital. She has recovered and is being discharged to-day or to-morrow.

A novel and interesting programme had been prepared for Madame Lottie Gordon's Australian concert at the China Fleet Theatre to-night in aid of the Blind Girls Home, Pokfulam, the Navy Benevolent Fund and the Empire Link Young Artists Funds. The concert will commence at 8 p.m. Sharp. Madame Lottie Gordon will give a number of her own Australian compositions, Dush songs and Chinese compositions, and the assisting artists will be—Mrs. Doris Miller, Wilfred Offien, Robert Shirooka, Albert Taylor, Eduardo Sequiera (saxophone), Tuck Lo (Chinese drama), Clement Braga (elocution recital), Raymond and Daniel Lui (Hawaiian music), Ramon Wong, James Hampstead, Dorothy and Winifred Raven and Dorothy Thomas. Tungs Peak and Co. have kindly loaned a special Morrison piano.

One case of Diphtheria, three cases of Typhoid with one death (one imported), two cases of Meningitis with two deaths and 65 deaths from Tuberculosis were reported to the local health authorities last week. On Monday there was a clean bill of health.

The Hon. Dr. A. R. Wellington, who is accompanied by Mrs. Wellington, left for Shanghai by the President Pierce. Dr. L. B. Jackson was a passenger by the same boat. They are attending the Tropical Medicine Conference in Shanghai.

Lam King, 29, a coolie, who was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital yesterday, is reported to have received serious injuries, including a fractured skull, through falling into a nullah in Waterloo Road.

The Prison Branch of the M.C.L. are holding ladies' whist drive at the Prison Officer's Mess, Arbuthnot Road, on Thursday, October 4, at 3 p.m.

The Dollar Steamship Line President Hoover will arrive to-morrow for Hongkong and will sail for Manila at midnight to-morrow.

HUGE CUNARDER

times of Germany's speedy Bremen and Europa, and the threat of the recently-constructed French giant the Normandie, the Cunarder is expected to weigh 54,000 tons when she has been fully fitted out.

FOUR DAY CROSSING.

Her overall length is less than that of her French rival, but she is wider and of several thousand tons greater displacement. Her probable speed is estimated in excess of 30 knots, and her builders are fully confident that she will make the run between Southampton, Cherbourg and New York in less than four days.

Her completion will be the signal for the start of the greatest race ever held for the speed record of the North Atlantic. Germany, France, Great Britain and Italy will be neck-and-neck competitors for the rich luxury patronage and fat mail contracts that go to the nation with the finest and fastest ships.

The suspension of work on the ship, which lasted for nearly a year and a half, throwing more than 3,000 men out of work; and the period of uncertainty over its fate which followed, hurt British pride almost as much as the necessity for abandoning the gold standard.

PRESSED BY SUBSIDIES.

It came at a time when the nation was striving against almost hopeless odds to re-establish its shipbuilding industry in the face of increasing, heavily subsidised shipbuilding competition of foreign nations. Strong criticism was directed at London's bankers for declining to furnish the money necessary for the boat's completion.

The British Government came to the rescue and but the recently merged Cunard-White Star organisation sufficient money to complete the vessel and part of the cost of a sister ship. The money was lent without profit to the Government.

The new liner herself will have cost approximately £9,000,000 when completed. The four immense propellers cost £9,000 each, and the propeller shaft itself is longer than the entire length of the first Britannia, built by the Cunard line.

FLOATING CITY.

The promenade deck of the floating city is 750 feet long, and accommodation includes a moving picture house, a theatre with full proscenium and dressing rooms, swimming pools, Turkish, Russian and other remedial baths, gymnasiums and beauty parlours.

There will be a garage capable of accommodating scores of cars, and the passengers will be able to drive from the deck on to the landing stage at New York. Magnificent saloons and apartments have been designed by Mr. Benjamin W. Morris of New York, and Arthur J. Davis of London, noted architects.

The work of fitting out the ship will take more than a year. She will probably not make her maiden voyage before the spring of 1936.

It is anticipated that the boat will maintain a regular fortnightly service between Southampton and New York, and there is also a proposal that before she is put into service the ship should be sent around the various ports of the British Empire, and exhibited as a wonder ship at a cost of "two bob a head."—United Press.

COUNTERFEIT COINS.

CHINESE ASSISTANTS
CHARGED WITH UTTERING

Appearing before Mr. Q. A. A. Macdonald at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, Fung Wa, 28 years, and Fung Hing-hung, 20 years, were charged with uttering counterfeit foreign coins, resembling Chinese twenty cent pieces, and with the possession of counterfeit foreign coins. Both were assistants of the Chun Cheong money changers, of 150, Connaught Road, Central.

Mr. C. E. R. Sanders, of Messrs. Russ and Company, appeared for the defence.

Sub-Inspector S. I. Cunningham (for the prosecution), said that, on September 14, on information received, he visited the Chun Cheong money changers, at 150, Connaught Road, Central. Prior to entering the premises a detective was sent to the shop and produced ten silver dollars, which he asked them to change into Kwangtung currency. He received, in exchange for the ten dollars, 66 Kwangtung twenty cent pieces, 17 of which were found to be counterfeit.

Earlier in the day another man had visited this shop, and producing two silver dollars, asked for Kwangtung twenty cent pieces. He received 13 twenty cent pieces and 11 copper cents. Ten of the twenty cent pieces were counterfeit.

Police Search.

When this man received these coins he was taken to Sub-Inspector Cunningham, who was standing on the opposite side of the street, whereupon the Sub-Inspector went into the shop and told the defendants that he had a warrant to search the place for counterfeit money.

In the front drawer of the counter, a tray containing 362 genuine Chinese coins and 37 counterfeit coins was found. In another basket containing 297 more coins 77 were counterfeit. Another basket containing 137 genuine coins and 37 counterfeit coins was also found.

The second defendant was sitting near a counter at the entrance of the shop, and was somewhat unwilling to move when told to do so; but when he moved and Sub-Inspector Cunningham had examined the first locker (there were three lockers), he found some more coins which proved to be counterfeit. On a shelf were a few more, making a total of 1,867 counterfeit coins and 859 genuine coins.

Defendants were both arrested and taken to the Central Police Station, where the first defendant was charged in connection with uttering 17 counterfeit foreign coins, resembling Chinese 20 cent pieces. The second defendant was charged with uttering 10 silver counterfeit coins resembling Chinese twenty cent pieces, and he was also charged with the possession of counterfeit coins.

After further evidence had been given the case was adjourned till Saturday morning.

Boys Complain

The Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.

Sir,—I have been asked by many of my fellow-students to express, through the medium of your esteemed paper, their displeasure at the treatment of the King's Theatre's management towards the boy students during the special matinees of the "Karakatou."

Above all, there was no booking, and when tickets were bought by a school representative there was no notification as to what seats that school's students should occupy. Consequently, the student procurer that they might take any vacant seats in the theatre. Some boys therefore went to the theatre early and filled in the dress circle seats. However, they were later dragged out and saw their seats being taken up by girls, teachers, and religious people. What does this mean? Is the girls' teachers' and religious people's money better than the boys' money, or more worth? All paid 30 cents each. Why should there be a distinction? Among students boys and girls are the same, and out of school hours boys and teachers are friends.

The theatre management reserved a certain section for one college when there were no reservations for other colleges; and at another moment they let a mixed crowd swell in that section. No wonder there were so many quarrels between some boys and the ushers. Many students were dragged from one extremity of the theatre to the other—from the back-lines of back stall to the front-lines of front stall, and they were good-natured enough to obey the ushers' instructions. Again, some small boys were put two in a seat when they paid two seats' worth.

After all, it is the boy students that gave the greatest patronage to the theatre at those performances; but sad to say, they were given the poorest accommodations and the most unsatisfactory treatment. Our boys do not expect nor wish to have better treatment than the girls; but should like to see that the fair policy, "First come, first served" be held by the management. Will the management apologise to our boy students?

FOOTBALL RESULTS GIVE SHOCK TO NERVOUS SYSTEM SPURS MOST DISAPPOINTING TEAM OF THE YEAR

BOLTON ON CREST OF A WAVE: READING START TO CLIMB

(By "Veritas").

Although a goodly number of last Saturday's results were a shock to one's nervous system, the majority of the leading teams in the English Football League retained their form and played according to expectations.

Every week now Manchester City are proving themselves a great team. It was no mean thing to visit Leicester and win by three goals to one. Certainly it will need a complete reversal of form to shift the City out of the first three during the remainder of the season.

Preston are not allowing the grass to grow under their feet. They don't conclusively with Chelsea before their own supporters and still remain a good second to Manchester. I was not surprised to see the Arsenal held to a draw at Sheffield, for their earlier achievements this season have marked the London team as a doubtful proposition on foreign soil.

THE BURST BUBBLE.

The Spurs are without doubt the big disappointment to date. To lose at home to Villa was something quite unexpected, and the score leaves no doubt as to the decisiveness of the affair. To the biblical adage "Put not your trust in Princes" might be added "Nor to any optimistic football manager in a newspaper interview." You will remember how all the critics were left satisfied just before the start of the season that this was going to be Tottenham's Big Year in Big Football.

Bolton have now gone through seven matches without defeat or division of spoils. A nice healthy record which encourages one to support them in the future wherever they are playing. Of course they have got to lose that proud record sometime, but it is difficult to anticipate the day, and in the meantime, the best idea is to plumb for them to win.

Millwall experienced this bad moment last week, but New Cross supporters are probably a little resentful that their team should suffer the indignity before their

ACCRINGTON BEATS CARLISLE.

YESTERDAY'S LEAGUE FOOTBALL MATCH.

London, Sept. 25. Playing for league points in the Northern Section of the Third Division to-day, Accrington Stanley defeated Carlisle United by the only goal scored. The match was played at Accrington.

Then Charlton's comparative failure against the Rovers was a bit of an upset to those who swear by form. By the way, watch Reading. They are climbing steadily and are already proving themselves one of the best balanced teams in the Third Division.

Glasgow Rangers are beginning to smile. Unsurpassed from the leadership, which had almost become theirs by divine right, by Clyde and St. Johnstone the Rangers saw their rivals lose points last week with the result the champions are once again on the pinnacle.

St. Johnstone's licking was a frightful shock, and Clyde's drawn game at Aldrie was a little disconcerting to the prophets.

AUSTRIAN TEAM BEAT ORIENT

Two-Goal Arrears Wiped Out

It was a pity that only 9,000 people cared to brave the weather conditions for Clapton Orient's attractive home fixture with the Sportklub Rapid at Lea Bridge last month.

A pity, because it was a game in which fortunes changed quickly enough to sustain interest throughout, and the clash in style of the two teams afforded a further opportunity to compare the methods at home with those of Austrian rivals.

The Orient swung the ball about from the start in marked contrast to

Amateur Cup Draw

Six A.F.A. teams have entered for the F.A. Cup this season, and 20 for the F.A. Amateur Cup.

St. Albans, A.F.A. Cup holders, have been drawn away to Hoddeston in the Amateur Cup first qualifying round on Oct. 6, for which round Ipswich have a bye; Merton visit Epsom in the first round, and Aquarius are away to Carshalton Athletic.

Old Owens will receive Walsall in the preliminary round, Old Latymers, Gorton Park, Royal, and Old Lyonsians meet Southall at Harrow; while in the first round Old Finchleys have been drawn at home to Lyons, and Civil Service given choice of ground against Old Johnnians, while Ealing will be at home to the winner of the Hayes v. Planner preliminary round tie.

Tot H. in the first round, are at home to Baldoak. Eastbourne entertain Worthing, and Hastings and St. Leonards visit Wick in the first round.

Cambridge Town, now in the Northern and Midland Division of the tournament, have, with Moor Green (Birmingham), been exempted to the competition proper.

The close-passing game adopted by the visitors. The constant changing of the point of attack, coupled with the little extra vigour which the Orient players employed, soon had the Austrians defence in a tangle.

It came as no surprise when first Halliday and then Smith shot through to give the Londoners a two-goal lead at the interval.

On changing ends a marked change came over the game. The Austrians attained a greater measure of accuracy in their passing and now it was the turn of the Orient defence to pack their goal.

Kaburek, at inside-right, was the schemer of the Austrian forwards, and he quickly made amends for his wildness in shooting earlier in the game when he beat Robertson twice in quick succession.

The Orient defence looked tired when Bleau went through to give the visitors victory.

Bradman's Condition Causes Anxiety

London, Sept. 25.

Don Bradman, the Australian cricketer, who underwent an operation this week is making but slow progress towards recovery.

The latest report to-day states that his condition continues to give considerable concern, but the early peritonitis is not advanced.

An earlier message stated that Bradman passed a disturbing night and that his condition is likely to create anxiety for the next two or three days.—Reuter.

FINCHER'S TENNIS WIN

In The K.C.C. Tourney

CLOSE CALL FOR HYDE AND RODGER

E. C. Fincher, (holder) advanced to the third round of the Kowloon Cricket Club singles championship yesterday, when he defeated S. A. Gray in straight sets, by scores of 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

Fincher, who played one of his best games this year since losing to Tam Yee-fong in the Colony championship, was extremely pacy off the ground with his forehand drives, and continually scored on this hand with excellent placements. He made practically no mistakes throughout the match, and supported first rate ground strokes with his usual efficiency at the net. Gray found himself outplayed, especially in the first set, but towards the close maintained the rallies. Fincher was vastly superior in tactics, often drawing his opponent out of position. Both players hit strongly, but the club champion exercised the better control over his shots, and was always well on top.

HUNG'S NOBLE EFFORT.

W. C. Hung gave a magnificent performance of net play while playing with W. Zimmerman against J. Rodger and W. Hyde in the club handicap doubles yesterday. Thanks chiefly to Hung, the match went the full distance, and after three hard sets only two games separated the pairs.

Rodger and Hyde finally won 7-5, 6-7, 0-4, and it was accomplished after a match full of interesting exchanges. Hyde gave a good display of forehand driving, and Rodger supported with neat placements from the forecourt. Zimmerman lacked experience of the first type of play served up, but he played bravely.

Hung was exceptionally good throughout and is improving every time he takes the court. Continued progress on these lines will put him in the champions class.

PETERSEN "A GOOD BOY"

Dempsey Plans For British Boxer

New York, Aug. 20. "Petersen is a pretty good boy. If all goes well we will bring him over here in two or three months and give him a few fights. This was Jack Dempsey's remark when questioned on the report that he wished to manage Petersen on an American tour.

Dempsey added that negotiations were now in progress, but that it would probably be a few weeks before a definite decision was made. If Petersen makes the trip to the United States, Dempsey intends to match him against opponents such as Johnny Risco, the Cleveland heavy-weight, and Tommy Loughran, who "do not hit too hard."

"Then," concluded Dempsey, "if Petersen shapes up nicely we might arrange a big bout for him in England. I think that a little American experience would do him the world of good."

BACKSTROKE RECORD BROKEN BY LAU

CANTONESE TEAM WIN LAST TWO EVENTS

BUT FAIL IN EARLIER PART OF THE PROGRAMME

Despite the inclusion of three Hongkong interport and Chinese Olympic swimming stars, the Cantonese Swimming Club just failed to hold the Foreign Y.M.C.A. in the dual swimming gala which took place last week at the latter's pool. The Imcas won, scoring 35 points against the total of 28 earned by the Chinese, the latter being level right up to the final two events which they lost. The deciding races of the evening were the relay and diving and, as the "Y" took these, they were able to win by the margin of 9 points.

One pool record and another outstanding time were set by the two South China swimming stars, Lau Po Hay, the backstroke champion, negotiating the distance in 74 2/5 seconds which is 2/5 seconds better than W. Wagner's local record, but slower than Dr. Ohlwein's recent interport record of 69 4/5 seconds. Kwok Chan-hung, the Hongkong breast-stroke champion, won this event in 2 minutes 43 3/5 seconds which is exceptionally fast.

50 YARDS IS CLOSE.

The 50 yards free style proved an easy win for Grilk with Smith second and Chau third. In the 100 yards backstroke, it looked like the Cantonese taking first and second places as Kan held level with Lau for a time, but the latter soon went ahead and Kan dropped back allowing McAllister to come up in the final length and the Foreign Y.M.C.A. swimmer, by a magnificent spurt closed up, beat Kan by a touch, taking second place.

In the 100 yards free style, the three leading swimmers held level for the first three lengths, Archie Logan setting a slow pace with the result that H. See, the Chinese first string, was able to push him, and S. Stavokovsky followed. Logan went out in the final length and took the lead to win in 01 seconds while See held second place five feet behind with Stavokovsky third.

Kwok Chan-hung was held to level terms in the breast-stroke by Kan, his team mate, and these two established a long lead over Lambkin and Lane. The first six lengths, saw Kwok swimming strongly and maintaining the pace while Kan fell back slightly but still retained a half length advantage over the two "Y" swimmers. In the twelfth length Lambkin commenced to come up, and Kan tried so that in a thrilling finish, Kan was just able to stave off the "Y" swimmer, placing second by three feet while Lambkin was third.

In the 400 yards free style a fast pace was set and M. K. Sze swam exceptionally well to hold on to Archie Logan with Barrera trailing at their feet. Sze swam very erratically steering across the bath and losing distance by this, but he held level with Logan for twelve lengths and then dropped back about ten feet so that the "Y" swimmer went ahead to win. Barrera was third.

LAU WINS MEDLEY.

The wonderful speed made by Lau Po-hay in the backstroke gave the Chinese their lead in the medley relay and the remainder of the side retained this advantage to win the event the "Y" team coming up in the free style, but being unable to bridge the wide margin of advantage already established.

The diving was won by the two "Y" divers, Broussau and Grilk, and the relay brought about a great fight with no distance between the two teams until the final length when Grilk just managed to nose out Chau of the Chinese team. The evening's programme was concluded with an exhibition water polo game.

HUNGARIAN SWIMMERS

Beat England In Relay Race At Brighton

London, Aug. 28. The touring team of Hungarians met a side of English swimmers at Brighton yesterday, and in the first of the outstanding international events they beat England in the relay (380 yards).

In this race one of the Englishmen started too soon and the home team was disqualified. There was a re-swim, and in this Hungary beat England by 60 yards in 9 min. 40 sec.

Later Hungary beat England by six goals to two in a water polo match.

C. F. Larson, of the Hamilton Aquatic Club, Ontario, won the 100 yards swimming championship of England at Weston-super-Mare in 54 1/5 sec. In his heat Larson equaled the English record with 54 sec.

M. Y. French-Williams (Penguin S.C.) was second in 56 sec., and F. Dove (

LANCASHIRE'S CRICKET TACTICS CRITICISED

PECULIAR OPPOSITES IN POLICY BUT WORTHILY WON THE CHAMPIONSHIP

The special cricket correspondent of the London Morning Post, in commenting on the performance of Lancashire in winning the county cricket championship this year, writes:

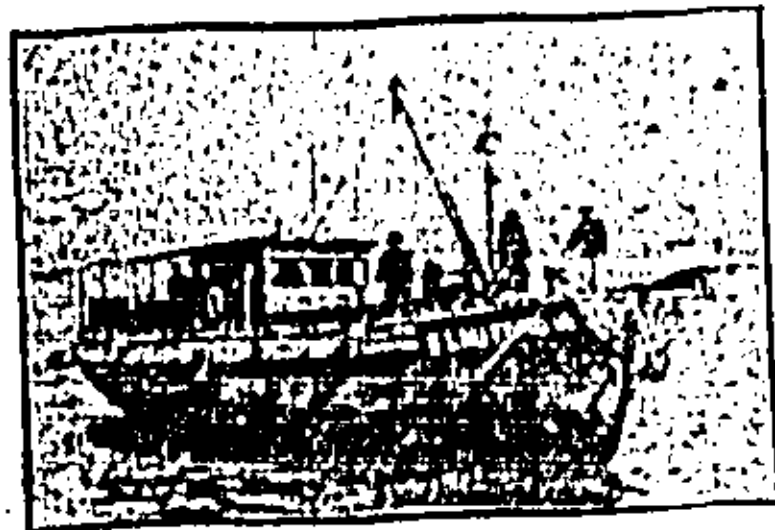

Granted that there must be a championship, it would be curious to qualify one's congratulations to the county which, in coming out top of the list, wins thirteen matches out of right and loses only three. Those who make a certain implication—that Lancashire have, on ten occasions, won on the first innings should, rather, blame a system which by its appointment of points definitely encourages a certain method of play.

In some of the Southern Counties Lancashire's batting has been the reverse of popular. Force of circumstances, and perhaps a lack of ironical cussedness, had a certain amount to do with this, and it is a pity that it should have happened. As soon as it seemed that the championship would elude Lancashire, they proceeded to win matches by scoring runs at a rate not to be despised by any county. But, all of a sudden, they realised that the game was within their grasp, and instead of plucking them up in great handfuls they laboriously set about picking them one by one. (And most of it happened on Southern grounds.) It was all rather like a batsman who, after an admirable innings of two-and-a-half hours, suddenly looks at the score and sees that he has made 90 runs. Most watchers of the game know what occurs then.

Another point is this, that most of their leading batsmen do not get runs at a satisfactory rate of scoring, they manage to conceal the fact. For they are all well aware of the stark mathematical truth that four turns towards long-leg and four pushes to mid-wicket for a single apiece count eight runs, surely as do a late cut to the boundary and an off-drive that slices past deep-coverage. They are also safer. But they please the spectator less, and the spectator is entitled to his preferences.

WELL-BALANCED SIDE.

Without being a great side, Lancashire are a competent and a well-balanced one. There is Watson, Hopwood, Iddon, Tyldesley, and Paynter to make the orthodox runs, Lister and Parkinson to go for weary bowling, or by the sure as do a late cut to the boundary and an off-drive that slices past deep-coverage. They are also safer. But they please the spectator less, and the spectator is entitled to his preferences.

INTREPID BRITISH WOMEN RIDERS

German Killed In Six-Day Trial

Garmisch (Germany), Aug. 30. British women motor-cyclists rode intrepidly to-day in a race that was marred by tragedy.

Rounding a corner at terrific speed, a German rider crashed. He died later in hospital.

It was the first fatal accident in the International Six-day Trial since 1925. To-day was the third day of the trial.

The three British women—Miss M. Cottle, Miss E. Foley and Miss Ida Croy—earned great admiration for their riding.

They succeeded in climbing the notorious Etal without assistance, although nearly half the entire field failed to reach the summit unaided.

The struggle for the premier prize, the International Trophy, was unaltered after to-day's run. The German and Italian teams have lost no marks, while the British team have lost only one. Czechoslovakia has lost 110 marks.

and that for the second time. Congratulations. In one respect he has been unsurpassed. A captain's primary duty is to win the toss, and Eckersley has proved himself a perfect wizard at the business of "Umps and 'Ollers."

SPORT ADVTS.

C. B. BROWN,
Secretary.

LADY GOLFERS

Hold a Successful Meeting

The Ladies' section of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club held a most successful Autumn meeting at Deep Water Bay on Monday, September 24. Forty players took part in the Tombstone Competition. This was won by Mrs. Webb, who drove at the 18th hole. Two other players reached the 17th green. The hidden prize was won by Mrs. Williamson, who finished 12 feet from the longest drive was won by Mrs. Whyte-Smith, who drove 178 yards. This was almost equalled by Mrs. Michelmore, whose ball was less than 12 inches behind.

A prize for the approaching Mrs. D. J. Valentine and Mrs. Whyte-Smith, holding three balls in nine. Mrs. Valentine got the prize. After tea the prizes were presented by the Captain.

Members are reminded that the New Course, Fanning, is now open, and competitions will be held there in October. The Captain's Cup competition will be transferred from Happy Valley and the L. G. U. competition will take place as usual.

There is also a Medal Pool in October and a Bogeys competition on October 25. The Annual General Meeting will be held on Thursday, November 8, at 11 o'clock in the Helena May Institute. Members will receive the Annual Report and Statement of Accounts in due course.

LAWN BOWLS

K.B.G.C. TEAM FOR SATURDAY

The following have been selected to represent the second team of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club in their league matches against the Football Club on Saturday at Happy Valley.

J. MacDonald, E. V. Searle, J. G. Charlton, G. E. T. Thompson (Skip).

G. Ross, C. L. Farmer, J. L. Tetley, M. J. Henderson (Skip), H. F. Stoneham, D. W. Waterston, C. B. Hosking, J. Rodger (Skip).

CAMBRIDGESHIRE

London, Sept. 25.

Lord Woolavington, owner of the Cambridgeshire fairs, at Eton, said to-day he had notified that Eton was being backed for the Cambridgeshire.

He declared that it had not yet even been decided whether the horse would run.—Reuter.

ATHLETIC CONGRESS

U.S. Proposal Adopted By The Federation

Stockholm, Aug. 29.

The American proposal for the establishment of new rules for hurdle races, concerning both the construction of hurdles and records, was adopted at to-day's session of the International Amateur Athletic Federation Congress. As a consequence any record will be approved even if, in the course of its being set up, a hurdle was overturned or displaced by the runner.

The American proposal for the introduction of races over 1,600 metres and 3,200 metres on the Olympic programme in place of the present 1,500 and 3,000 metres events was rejected. The Congress decided that all walking records must be set up on the track and not on the road.

FRIENDLY HOCKEY

Y.M.C.A. First Eleven Beats St. Andrews

In a fast friendly hockey match at King's Park yesterday afternoon, the Y.M.C.A. first eleven beat St. Andrews' Club by three goals to one. Within the first ten minutes of play the Saints scored through Colledge from a free hit by Guest just outside the circle. The Saints kept up the pressure but eventually the Y.M.C.A. equalised through G. T. Lammet and shortly after T. J. Price the skipper of the Y.M.C.A. scored the second goal.

In the second half the Saints did most of the attacking but could not find the target. The Y.M.C.A. forwards had a falling in that they ran too far forward and were constantly offside. W. T. Brown, playing at centre forward for the winners, missed an open goal but he later scored the third and last goal through a mischievous R. H. Wong. Both teams were fairly evenly matched. D. McCallan playing at centre forward for the winners was outstanding, and Guest playing in the same position for the Saints was also good.

CAER CLARK CUP ARRANGEMENTS.

Clubs affiliated to the Hongkong Ladies' Hockey Association will meet at Lane Crawford's Restaurant at 5.15 p.m. on Friday, October 5, to elect officers for the ensuing year and to arrange the programme for the season, including the Caer Clark Cup competition.

WITNESS SOUGHT.

ALLEGED BRUTAL ASSAULT ON BOY BY INDIAN

The determination of the police to get the truth of the allegations against an Indian police constable or watchman that he savagely kicked a Chinese boy in the chest outside Alexandra Building on Saturday morning, is evidenced by an advertisement inserted to-day requesting that witnesses of such an incident should communicate with the authorities.

The boy, Pun Tak-yuen, aged nine, is stated to have said that he was selling newspapers when an Indian "policeman" kicked him and took his papers away, presumably because the lad was shouting his paper outside the building.

Suffering acute pain from the kick, the boy was carried into Gray's Yellow Lantern Shop and was also given a bottle of liniment by an assistant at A. S. Watson and Co., but his injury necessitated expert attention and he was accordingly taken to hospital.

The indignation of passers-by was aroused at the brutal manner in which the youngster was dealt with and one Chinese gentleman went so far as to say he would instruct a solicitor to take up the case.

Since then the Police have been endeavouring to trace the alleged assailant, but although many people seemed aware of the happening no one has yet come forward to say they actually saw it.

The boy was not detained in hospital though he stated that he was an orphan and slept in the streets.

CHINA AND TIBET.

ENVOY SAYS HE HAD A WARM WELCOME

Nanking, Sept. 18. Gen. Huang Mou-sung, China's special envoy to Tibet, is expected to leave Lhasa next month on his journey back to China. A telegram received here to-day from General Huang says that he received a warm welcome from the Tibetan authorities.—Reuter.

PEACE IN EAST?

SOVIET MAY RECOGNISE MANCHUKUO

London, Sept. 25. It is widely predicted that Russia will follow up the sale of the C.E.R. by recognizing Manchukuo.

This suggestion has given rise to lively apprehensions at Geneva, for it is realised that such action would put the League in the most awkward position.

M. Litvinoff's statement that Russia would not feel herself bound by League decisions arrived at before her entry is recalled in many quarters.

Some circles anticipate a Russo-Japanese Entente, though the difficulty is that Japan desires the neutralization of the frontiers while Russia wants a non-aggression pact.

The opinion is generally held that the Japanese diplomats have got the better of the soldiers. Dangers of war have now been eliminated.

Japanese bonds were notably firm on the London Exchange to-day.

It is expected that Japan will now re-double her efforts to secure an agreement with Nanking. Diplomats believe that so far from desiring to invade North China, Japan's greatest anxiety is to lose Chinese Chauvinists in Manchukuo plan such an attempt.

Curiously as to whether Nanking will renew her protest against the sale of the Railway has also been aroused. It is recalled that Russia, by agreement in 1924, recognised Chinese rights in the most explicit terms.—Reuter.

JAPANESE FLEET.

COMBINED SQUADRONS AT PORT ARTHUR

Dairen, Sept. 25. The combined Japanese fleet left this afternoon for Port Arthur, where it will stay until September 27. The first squadron will then leave for Tsingtao and the second squadron for Chosio, where the American Asiatic squadron is now stationed.—Reuter.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

By MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

SYLVIA HIVERD, the younger sister of the famous actress, Sylvia Hiverd, was a girl of about twenty, with a face that was as fresh as a rose. She had been in the theatre for some time, and had become a popular actress. She was now in the city of New York, and was about to appear in a new play. She was very nervous, and was looking for someone to talk to. She saw a girl who was sitting alone on a bench, and she went over to her.

CHAPTER XIV

Of course it was madness. Boots told herself as she slipped out of the half-wet bathing suit and nervously began to dress. Why it was that she and Johnny were playing. Girls and boys talked as she and Russ had all the time and it meant precisely nothing. Johnny had been shouting to Geraldine that very day on the raft, "Be mine, darling. Be mine!" I can't live without you! And every one had simply screamed with laughter. It had been the most priceless comedy line.

Yes, she and Russ Lund were just playing at being in love. It didn't mean a thing. It was exciting, like being in a drama. The Amateur Group of the Juniors had been told that.

She loved her white sandals, and ran a comb through her unruly curls. The memory of Russ's grave, unsmiling face as he had said, "To-morrow," stayed with her. Nonsense. It was all nonsense and she was a fool ever to have let him say such things to her. To-morrow mother would come home; everything would go back into its proper place, like the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. Russ would take the cattle boat or the fruit for Chile. She would have one letter from him—maybe two. This time next year she might not even remember his name.

"That's how serious it is," she said half-aloud to convince herself. All through the evening, as she served jellied soup and broiled chops and salad to her father, as she washed dishes and brushed up the kitchen floor with a worn broom, she thought of him. It was not serious—she would not let it be. To-morrow she would employ just the right blend of gravity and humour in her farewell to the beach-club guard. He would see, he would understand that she was a woman of the world for all her 18 years. She flushed at the memory of her scarlet cheeks and stony eyes. "Why, he must think me a fool!" she told herself indignantly. "He probably says that to some girl every place he goes and expects me to know that."

In the fur of her mother's arrival she almost forgot Russ. The dear, familiar thin face and spare unfashionable figure. The unpacking of the shabby bags—somehow the evening flew by.

"And how did she take care of you, Daddy?"

"Mr. Raeburn, florid, bald, a good 10 years older than his wife, muttered that Barbara was fair enough but he was glad to have Mother home again."

"She's been on the go the liveliest time, he muttered and tucked them away in the drawer of a scarred mahogany bureau. "Daddy and I are perfectly willing to make sacrifices for you, keep you in frocks and pin money until some fine man comes along..."

Inwardly Boots writhed at her mother's trust in her. Not, as she reminded herself, that she had done anything to be ashamed of. On the contrary, her journeyings with Russ had been of the most decorous nature. A ride in the sweet smelling lanes and in the chocolate soda at the Sweet Shop—but would people believe that? A girl didn't usually spend so much time with one man unless the current of their affairs ran more deeply and swiftly than that of a platonic friendship. But it had been thought. Boots told herself steadily. After that first impulsive kiss weeks ago Russ had not laid a finger upon her. The memory of that kiss stayed with her.

"What did you say, darling?" Her mother, straightening a stooped back, lifting a pile of underthings layered in tissue paper, looked at her fondly.

"Nothing!" But the sound that had escaped her was almost a groan. Her carefully built up fabric of common sense crumpled and shattered at the sight of her mother's face. If she answered him coolly and distantly to-morrow he would go away to Chile. She would never see him again...

"Here, let me hang that up," she said at random, taking a brown crepe frock from her mother's fingers. She fairly flew to the wardrobe, and in and Mrs. Raeburn, who had been telling herself that the child was strange and silent and evidently had something on her mind, banished the idea and reflected that Barbara was growing up to be a great help.

Aunt Nedda wanted Boots to come and visit her in the autumn. Mrs. Raeburn said, with quiet satisfaction, "You'd like that, wouldn't you?"

Inwardly Boots shivered. The thought of Aunt Nedda's cold, dour brownstone house near the Boston Common made her shiver. And where would Russ be by autumn? Making love to some beautiful Spanish señorita in an embowered haven? She could see herself, going to the library to change books for Aunt Nedda, going to symphony concerts, with pale, drab, decorous people all about them.

No—no—never that! "I'll have a job by fall," she said vaguely.

"A job, darling!" Her mother smiled indulgently. "What could you do?"

"Well, Mary Ollivant is helping out in a dress shop in New Martin and Avenue C, and one of the other girls—Helen and Louise and Sue—are going to take a business course."

"But, my dear," began her mother in the tone, the strain Boots so dreaded, "after all they are newcomers here. They have no traditions to uphold. Why, your grandfather built the first May house, the one with the cupola, that the Westlys live in now. I couldn't have you in a shop, dear. Daddy and I would never agree to that."

Boots sat down on the bed, her eyes glittering, her colour high.

"But I've simply got to do some thing," she said feverishly. "I can't hang around here all my life, taking an allowance from Daddy, knowing that every new pair of shoes I get is practically a family tragedy..."

"How you exaggerate!" Flashed the older woman rolled stockings into neat balls and tucked them away in the drawer of a scarred mahogany bureau. "Daddy and I are perfectly willing to make sacrifices for you, keep you in frocks and pin money until some fine man comes along..."

There was a good deal more of the same and finally Boots, weak and defeated, crept quietly away to her own room. The scene had ended with a few mild tears and reproaches on her mother's part. All right then, she wouldn't talk about working in a shop. All right then, she wouldn't mention business course any more.

"If she finds out about my resigning from the Juniors I'm simply through," Boots muttered to herself, tossing on a hot pillow. And of course that revelation was only a matter of time.

Sleep would not come. It was all wrong, the girl thought desperately, tossing in the darkness. Everything was wrong—her life here, the narrowness and stupidity of it, the restrictions that bound her. With Russ—and here her heart leaped—everything would be different. He belonged to a different world. He was not bound by the age-old taboos and conventions. Maybe there was the way life was meant to be, free and bold and simple. As his wife she would miss some of the softness and ease she had been trained to expect. Vagabonding down the world in gypsy fashion one would come to think of hot baths and clean sheets and flannel bowls as the greatest luxuries, pleasant but not vital.

"I must be mad," she said for the hundredth time, switching on her bedside lamp to peer at the clock. It was 3 o'clock. It was 4. At daybreak she cautiously put on her clothes and slipped out the side door. The world was dewy, shivering in the pure early morning light. Everything was delicately cool and fresh. Clear drops of crystal hovered on the nasturtium leaves, and every delphinium spike was magnificently spangled with dew.

The girl, pale and heavy-eyed, strode across the grass to the gate which led into the Hartes garden. It was only a short walk from here to the blue stretch of the sea. Her head ached. She wanted to be alone—to shake off the dark thoughts of the night.

"I ought to do this more often," she told herself, striding down the empty path to the water. It was good to be alone in a quiet world, to think things out for oneself without the barrier of four walls.

But the mood of exaltation quickly passed. She was, after all, little more than a child, with a woman's problems laid before her.

Suddenly she put her shining fair head down into her hands and wept. "I don't know what to do," she sobbed. "If someone would only tell me what to do!"

It seemed to her that every place she looked she met an impassive. She had stayed off thinking of the inevitable scene which would ensue when her mother learned of the bitter snub administered by Mrs. Pernel's heavy hand. She had tried to hope that, with work to do, in the world, the narrowness of her social life would not matter. But that gate was now closed. Mrs. Raeburn seemed unalterably opposed to any effort in that direction. And there was always the restriction of money.

"We've never had enough, really," Boots thought angrily, almost crossly. And it was no use saying money didn't matter. It mattered frightfully.

"I'm so sorry. Can I be of any help?"

The cultivated voice startled her. Looking up, touching her reddened eyes with a handkerchief, she stared straight at the tall dark young man she had met at Lois Hart's house. Denis Fenway.

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Maybe you've always thought of Janet Gaynor as a somewhat fragile and delicate star with a flair for light romance of the fairy-tale variety, and a tremendous popular appeal. You've probably given her credit for dramatic ability, rather than credit in one so tiny. But the betting is that you've never considered her as a brilliant comedienne. That's one reason why her forthcoming vehicle, "Change of Heart", is going to surprise the general public when it comes to the King's Theatre on Saturday. "Change of Heart" differs in a good many respects from her preceding films. There is a comedy undertone running through the story from the very beginning, and this undertone frequently swells into hilarious scenes that afford the dainty Fox Film celebrity a real chance to show what she can do as a side-splitter. She is aided and abetted in this endeavour by the other principals. Charles Farrell, back with her again after an 18-month separation, isn't bad as a laugh-getter himself when he wants to be, and James Dunn and Ginger Rogers, who supply most of the complications of the plot, also manage to inject merriment into the picture. And with such noted humorists as James Gleason and Samuel Hoffenstein working with Sonya Levien on the script, it's quite likely that "Change of Heart" will meet with a warm reception from the fans.

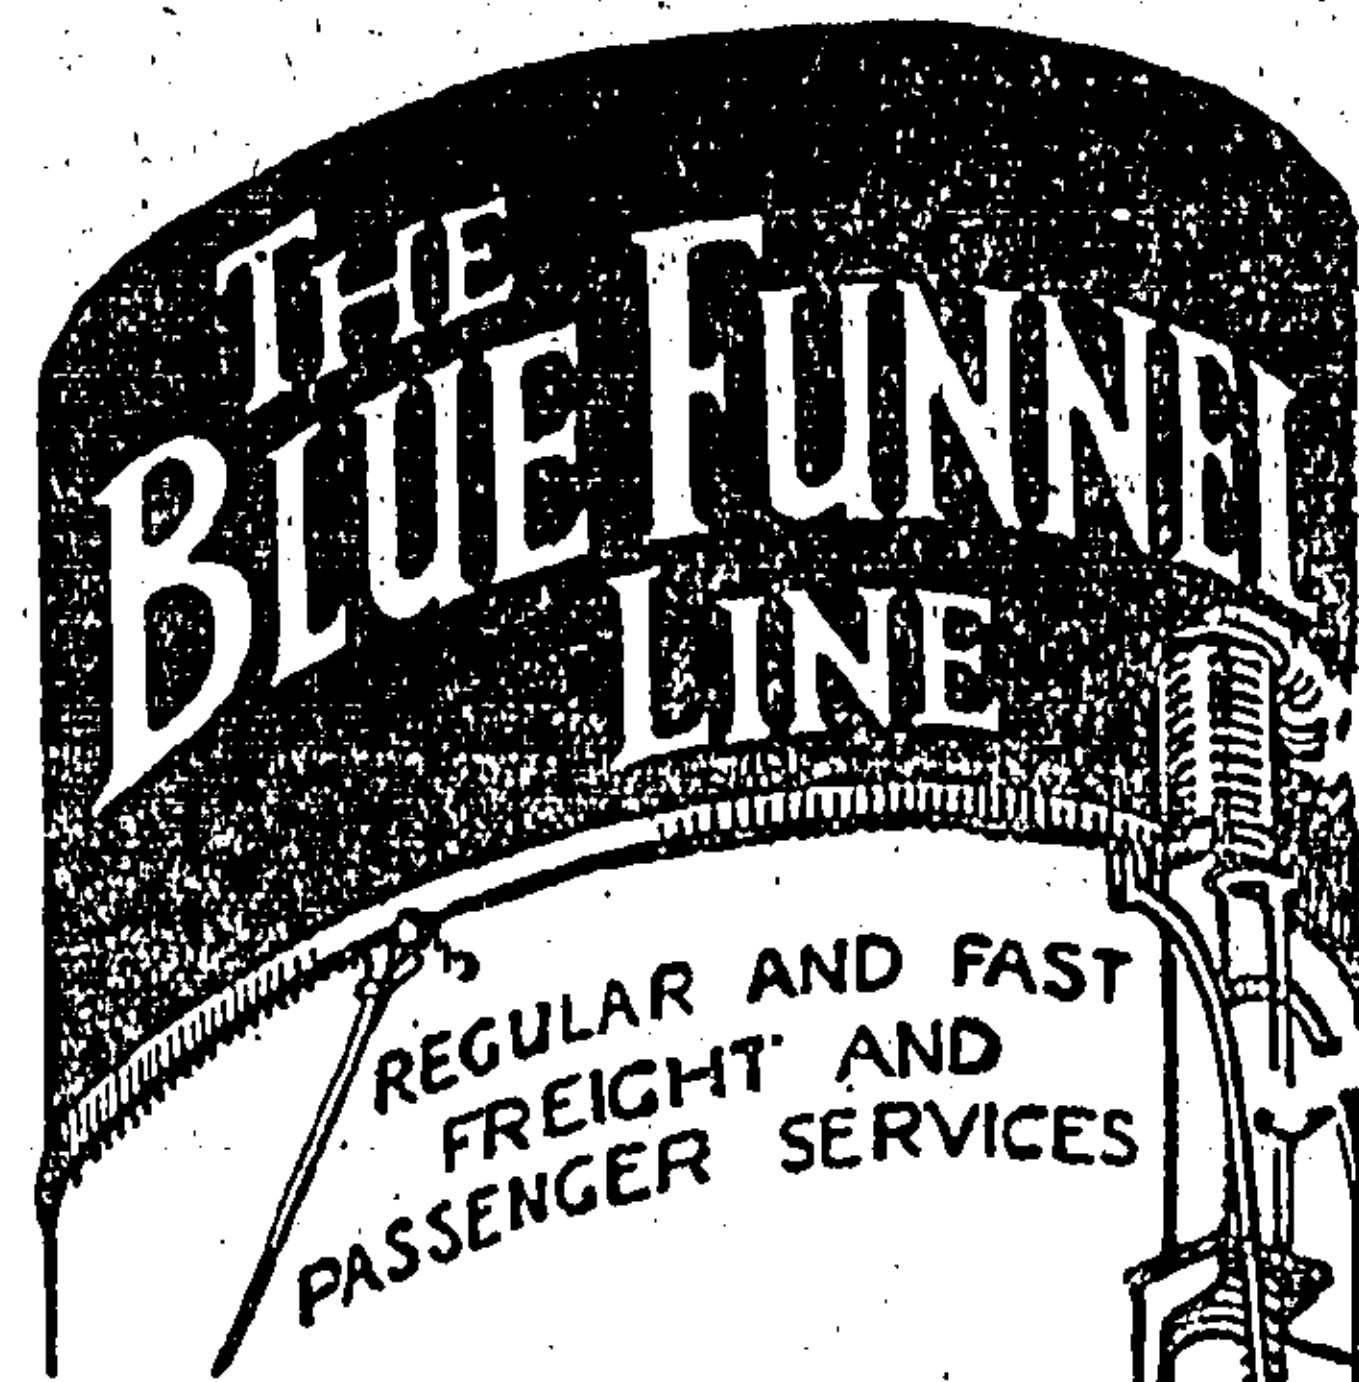

"The World Changes" After a brilliant season on Broadway and in the principal eastern cities as the star of "Counselor-At-Law," Paul Muni returns to the screen in the stellar role of the Warner-Fox National production, "The World Changes," which opens to-morrow at the Alhambra Theatre. Metropolitan critics have already agreed that in "The World Changes,"

Muni surpasses even his remarkable performance as the heroic hero of the Georgian prison camp in "I am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang." Set against a background of what may be considered the most significant years in the history of the United States, Muni is seen as the restless, ambitious son of the practice who rises from a daring cattle-drover to be the dominating figure in American industry. The rise and dissolution of an American pioneer constitutes an epic drama that embraces four generations. Through it all Paul Muni as Gustav Nordholm is the dominant figure. The cast includes Mary Astor, Aline MacMahon, Guy Kibbee, Gordon Westcott, Henry O'Neill and many other noted players. Mervyn LeRoy directed.

"Such Women Are Dangerous" Three lovely women desire the thrill of Warner Baxter's embrace, the ecstasy of his kiss, in "Such Women Are Dangerous," the comedy drama now playing at the King's Theatre. Baxter portrays the role of a handsome bachelor-novelist. One of the women is Rosemary Ames, the charming girl who crashed into picture town in "I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang." The second is Rochelle Hudson of "Claremore, Oklahoma," which has also contributed Will Rogers to the screen. The third is Mona Barrie, who brings the poise and acting skill of considerable experience into her screen work. Which finally wins him? You'll have to see the picture to learn that.

"Wonder Bar" Dick is waiting for it. He knows the hand to come. "Wonder Bar" is a picture that is waiting for it. He knows the hand to come. "Wonder Bar" is a picture that is waiting for it. He knows the hand to come.

"Murder in a Private Car" Charlie Ruggles, who has played more intoxicated parts than anybody else in pictures, hasn't been tight, jiggled, or even mildly spicified since prohibition was repealed. In pictures, that is to say. "I can imagine why it is," Ruggles said during the filming of "Murder in the Private Car," in which he plays a mysterious and strictly sober defector of sinister crime, "but they've quit wringing drunk parts for me, since liquor was legalized. Before that I was asked to be oiled at least once in every picture." His part in "Murder in the Private Car" is so exacting that he has to be sober every minute, for he is called upon to protect Van Meter, Mary Carlisle, Russell Hadley and others in the mad dash from a succession of fearful fates. They are menaced by wrecks, giant gorillas, assassins and a variety of dire horrors from beginning to end. In spite of the thrills, the picture is replete with comedy. Ruggles' contribution of one of his funniest performances, "Murder in the Private Car" will be screened from to-morrow at the Queen's as the feature attraction. Many will remember it as "The Rear Car," the stage play that was sensationally successful. It is brought to the screen with added thrills by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, as directed by Harry Beaumont.

MR. P. A. ROCKEFELLER

AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN
PASSES AWAY

New York, Sept. 25.
The death occurred here to-day of the New York millionaire, Percy A. Rockefeller, after an operation for a stomach disorder. He is a nephew of Mr. John D.

Rockefeller, Sr.

The deceased, who was 56 years of age, was born in New York. He was educated at Yale University, entering his father's office on leaving college. A director of many large American business concerns, he amassed a fortune some years ago.

Besides his business activities, Mr. Rockefeller took a keen interest in many social welfare organizations, such as the American Boy Scouts and other movements for the youth of the country.—Reuter.

ST. JOHN BOSCO

CANONIZATION TO BE CELEBRATED HERE

The form which the local celebration of the canonization of St. John Bosco is to take was detailed at a meeting of interested residents at the Club Lusitano last night.

The main features will be religious commemorative services, a social reception with a programme of music and gymnastic displays by the boys of the Salesian Institutes, both of Hongkong and Macao.

Assisting at these functions will be the bulk of the Catholic school children of the Colony and, it is hoped, representative educational and social welfare workers, for whom the celebrations will have an inherent interest.

Presiding over the meeting last night, the Superior of the local Salesian Institute, the Rev. Fr. Bernardini, said St. John Bosco, founder of the Salesian order, was best known to the public by the social, moral and educational work he had inspired in all parts of the world, and it was fitting that in this year of his canonization, recognition of the Founder's life work should be supplemented by a public celebration in which others besides the clergy, could take a part.

General Interest.

The interest in the work being carried out at the St. Louis Industrial School and at the new institution at Aberdeen, was a general one, and for that reason it was desirable to make the forthcoming celebration as composite and representative as possible. He was sure that with co-operation, they would be able to make the event as much a success as similar celebrations held at Macao and in other parts of China and the world.

The details arranged by the meeting will admit of equal participation by clergy and laymen, irrespective of creed or nationality. The celebrations were divided into two main sections—religious and social. A vice-President, elected from amongst the clergy, was placed in charge of religious exercises, and a secular vice-President, nominated from amongst the lay residents, was entrusted with the supervision of arrangements for the reception.

The Committee.

The following were elected: President, Mgr. Henry Valtorta; vice-

STERLING WEAK

EQUALISATION FUND IN OPERATION

London, Sept. 25.

The Foreign Exchange market furnished several interesting features to-day.

Sterling again weakened in terms of dollars to 4.97½ and in terms of francs to 74.62, at which point the British Exchange Equalisation Fund was used to steady sterling. In the case of the dollar, commercial demand was particularly heavy, and better domestic news encouraged a slight movement of funds to America for investment in equities.

Canadian dollars appreciated in terms of other currencies, especially dollars, since every fresh inflation scare in America sends money to Canada.

The intrinsic soundness of Canadian currency is evident from the steady progress of Canada's internal and external trade, the increase in gold and silver production and the expanding sales of both metals, a satisfactory harvest and a substantial increase in rail traffic.

Business in Sondermark is now greater than in Reichsmarks, according to The Times, as more interest is being taken in the German exchange. The provision of facilities for forward transactions in Sondermark is proving most helpful.—Reuter.

Presidents, Rev. Fr. Wiczorek and Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga; Hon. Secretary, Rev. Fr. Hourigan; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. L. A. Barton.

Finance Committee: Chev. J. M. Alves, Rev. Fr. Bernardini, Mr. M. A. Cooper and Mr. J. Almeida. Music Directors: Rev. Fr. Buri and Prof. A. Gaudin.

Reception Committee: Hon. Mr. J. P. Braga, Mrs. A. R. Wellington, Mrs. Simon Tse Yan, the Misses L. and M. Loureiro, Mr. W. Fitz-Gibbon, Mr. Robert Chen and Mr. Andrew Tse.

Thanks were expressed to Dr. F. M. Graca Ozorio and officials the Club Lusitano for the use of the Club for the meeting.

It was decided to hold the celebrations at Kowloon, the exact date and venue to be announced in due course.

Present at the meeting were the Rev. Frs. Bernardini, Spada, Braga, L. Rossi, Wiczorek, Buri, and Hourigan; Dr. F. M. Graca Ozorio, Mr. T. Murphy, Mr. E. V. M.R. de Sousa, Mr. F. H. Barnes, Mr. L. A. Barton, Mr. J. Almeida and others.

SUGAR DUMPING

JAPANESE COMPETITION IN A NEW FORM

Cheap competitive prices and keen Japanese competition, with the threat of still cheaper Japanese sugar being dumped in the Colony, are some of the factors prevailing in the sugar business.

Although officials of the Taikoo Sugar Refinery are reticent, it is understood that these factors are closely related to the recently announced decision to reduce the price of sugar in Hongkong. The reductions apply to half-cubes and fine granulated sugar.

These two sugars, in convenient weight-units, have been retailed at 15 cents per pound. Although the reductions were advertised as becoming effective from last Monday, some of the retailers—compradores and others—from whom information has been sought, profess not to have received advice as to the exact scale of reductions, and up to yesterday were still selling what they claim to be old stocks at former prices.

The price reductions will have to be substantial, in the opinion of a number of retailers, to come anywhere within the range of competitive prices. The superior grade refined Taikoo sugar has an advantage when compared with the cheaper imported Chinese product which is consumed by the mass of an economically inclined Chinese community. The long reign of the former has exercised at the supposedly rich man's table is said, however, to be threatened by the appearance of a competitive product, in appearance if not in quality, bearing a close affinity to the local product.

Made in Japan?

Attention has been directed to a shop in town whose business is summed up in the one expressive word "Sugar" in big letters, ornamenting the front show window. Taikoo sugar is displayed, but beside each carton or bag there also appears, weight for weight, a somewhat similar parcel of Chinese "table" sugar. The half-cubes are of similar size, but the distinctive feature, besides the Chinese characters on the packages, is the extraordinarily low prices by which they are marked: ten cents per lb., as compared with the 15 cents being asked for the Taikoo product.

Furthermore, a ten per cent. reduction for purchases in bulk was promised by the shopkeeper, who also indicated that a "new" was likely upon receipt of cable advice. Despite its Chinese labels, the sugar is not locally manufactured; the fact being admitted by the shopkeeper, who came out with the statement that the sugar, imported in its present form, is packed by his concern in containers of local design and manufacture.

GENERAL JOHNSON RESIGNS

N.R.A. REFORM ENVISAGED

ROOSEVELT PREDICTION

"DEAR HUGHIE" TO REST

General Hugh S. Johnson, chief of the N.R.A. Administration, has resigned. President Roosevelt has accepted his resignation, at the same time announcing that reforms in the N.R.A. were imminent, and would probably be brought about within the next few days.

The N.R.A. had fulfilled the first phase of its usefulness, the President declared.

New York, Sept. 25. General Hugh S. Johnson, appointed administrator of the National Recovery Act in June, 1933, resigned to-day.

General Johnson was picked by President Roosevelt as the man to force the N.R.A., which was designed to put industry back on its feet following the years of depression and consequent unemployment.

The N.R.A., in the main, suspended the anti-trust laws, allowed for a rationing of plant production and introduced the fair trade codes. It gave to labour a free hand in organisation and the right of collective bargaining.

The N.R.A. was admittedly a desperate sort of remedy, and was to operate, at the most, for a two-year period.

General Johnson's task was an arduous one, and more than once he has come into conflict with various groups. In recent months he has had points of difference with the general administration and his resignation, in view of this fact, was not altogether unexpected.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED. President Roosevelt to-day announced from his Hyde Park home that he had accepted General Hugh Johnson's resignation.

The resignation was not unexpected in view of the few months and his dispute with Miss Perkins, the Secretary for Labour.

General Johnson's handling of the textile strike is condemned in some quarters.

New York papers this morning reported that General Johnson had been offered a position in the motion picture industry at a salary of $100,000 annually.

Mr. Bernard Baruch, Professor Moley and Mr. Gerard Swope are mentioned as possible successors of General Johnson.—Reuter.

SUPERFLUOUS JOB. Hyde Park, Sept. 25. General Hugh Johnson's resignation as head of the N.R.A. becomes effective on October 15.

The resignation took the form of a letter to President Roosevelt in which General Johnson declared that under the reorganization of the N.R.A. he felt that his own job was superfluous. Should he be recalled to assist the New Deal he would be ready to do so, he added.

"DEAR HUGHIE" In reply, President Roosevelt wrote, "Dear Hughie," and proceeded to compliment him upon his hard work, assuring him of his continued friendship.

He requested General Johnson to take a complete rest, saying that the N.R.A. had fulfilled the first phase of its usefulness and the time had come for revision.

He intimated, too, that General Johnson might be recalled to public service later.

The re-organization of the N.R.A. will probably occur within the next few days and President Roosevelt expects General Johnson to discuss it with him when he arrives in Washington to-morrow.

Before leaving the capital, General Johnson will make a final report to President Roosevelt.

Mr. Harold Vanderbilt, head of the syndicate owning the Rainbow.

PEER'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Marquis Of Waterford Found Shot

London, Sept. 25. A verdict of "Accidental Death" was returned at the inquest to-day on the Marquis of Waterford, aged 33, who was this morning found fatally shot in a room at his house in County Waterford, where he had gone to get a sporting gun to shoot a hare he had seen on the lawn.

The Marquis, seventh holder of the title, succeeded his father in 1911. He was formerly a Lieutenant in the Royal Horse Guards, but resigned his commission in 1927. The heir to the title is Lord William Mostyn de la Peor Beresford, a Lieutenant in the Royal Artillery.—British Wireless.

DEJECTED AND DISILLUSIONED, LIKE A MAN OVERWROUGHT, MR. SOPWITH, OWNER OF ENDEAVOUR AND CHALLENGER FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP, NEVERTHELESS CHATTED FREELY TO BRITISH JOURNALISTS AFTER THE DISASTROUS SIXTH RACE TO-DAY. BY BAD LUCK ENDEAVOUR LOST THIS DECISIVE CONTEST BY THE BARE MARGIN OF FIFTY YARDS, AND RAINBOW THUS RETAINED THE TROPHY.

The Endeavour's designer, Mr. Nicholson, was so disgusted with the whole contest that he could scarcely contain himself. He says he is returning to England to-morrow aboard the Mauretania.

The British yachtsmen declared that it was not only a question of both sides not agreeing over the interpretation of the rules, but the Americans' complete disregard of the rules.

ABANDONED PROTEST Mr. Sopwith has abandoned his protest, it was announced shortly after the conclusion of the race. He will not even try to cause a re-sail of the last contest, though his protest flag flew early in the day.

All of America is loud in the praises of Mr. Sopwith and his gallant attempt to wrest the cup from the holders for the first time in history. Mr. Vanderbilt, in common with the experts, admits that the Endeavour was the fastest boat, and her defeat was caused more by faulty tactics and inferior work on the part of the crew, than anything else.

The Rainbow yesterday won the sixth race, finishing 50 yards ahead of the Endeavour, with a margin of 54 seconds. There was a brilliant finish to the race, the challenger covering the last few miles at a terrific rate to come within a boat's length of the Rainbow after being a mile behind.

PROTEST WITHDRAWN. Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith has withdrawn his protest in the sixth Cup race. This means that America wins the Cup. It is believed that the protest was made on the grounds that the Rainbow, when overtaking the Endeavour, failed to keep clear, and baulked the challenger.

It is also alleged that the Rainbow hoisted her protest flag, though it was up to the Endeavour to do so. By such an action the Rainbow anticipated the Endeavour's protest. The Endeavour put up one of the greatest fights in history and acquitted herself nobly on the first and last legs of the race to-day.

MISTAKE IN TACTICS. Unfortunately she went too far ahead in the second leg, while Mr. Sopwith failed to change the head-sails early enough.

Nevertheless the decisive factor in the result was the jamming of the Endeavour's spinnaker after rounding the second buoy which cost the yacht several precious minutes.

If it had not been for that she would unquestionably have been first by a greater margin than the Rainbow had to win, for, apart from the time lost, once the spinnaker was set, the Endeavour was like an express train.

It is generally agreed that the Endeavour was the faster of the two boats, and probably the fastest "J" class boat ever launched.

Describing the latter stages of the race, Reuter says that at 1.10 p.m. the wind freshened to ten knots. The Rainbow was to windward and the Endeavour to leeward, two miles away. The Rainbow, taking a long starboard tack, almost reached the second mark, but was forced to the port tack and about to starboard before reaching the mark.

EXPERT OPINION. The Endeavour indulged in a series of tacks, and experts were of the opinion that Mr. Sopwith committed an error in rounding the first buoy under a Genoa jib and not changing to a double clew until well on in the second leg.

At 2.21 p.m., the Endeavour experienced trouble with the spinnaker, and the Rainbow was half a mile ahead at 2.35 p.m. Once repairs had been effected, however, the Endeavour's spinnaker began drawing excellently, and the boat started to gain ground.

At 2.47 p.m., with five or six miles to go, the Endeavour was feeling the fastest and had gained at least 200 yards. At five minutes past three the Rainbow was only a boat's length ahead.

The Rainbow crossed the finishing line at 3.20.05 p.m., and the Endeavour at 3.21 p.m., being 54 seconds behind the challenger. To this has to be added 20 minutes for elapsed time. Rainbow actually won by 50 yards.—Reuter.

SOPWITH'S
FAREWELL Newport, Sept. 25. Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith gave a farewell message to the American people to-day. He said that he would like to thank them for a wonderful and touching reception.

"We take back to England the most pleasant recollection of the sporting attitude of the American public," said the British yachtsman.

News of the withdrawal of the Endeavour's protest came like a bombshell to the waterside and greatly disappointed the British supporters, who were optimistic.

CREW BLAMED FOR DEFEAT

COMMITTEE CRITICISED

Newport, Sept. 25. The Endeavour, though defeated, is the fastest thing of her size afloat and would have won had she had a better trained crew and a more experienced helmsman. This is the general opinion of American yachting correspondents.

The Providence Herald expert, Mr. Jeff Davis, said Mr. Sopwith was experienced, and handicapped by an amateur crew, who, with a limited time for drill could not be expected to equal professionals.

Mr. George Currie of the Brooklyn Eagle, says: "If ever a ship was butchered, the Endeavour was."

Mr. Bill Swan of the Boston Post, says: "The Endeavour is the fastest yacht that ever sailed for the Cup. Mr. Sopwith lacks experience."

Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., says: "Mr. Sopwith is a fine helmsman, but it is a pity that his crew did not have longer training. The Race Committee's throwing out of the Endeavour's protest was unfair and Mr. Havemeyer (official American observer on Endeavour) ought to have resigned and told the Committee of his error."

It was on Mr. Havemeyer's advice that Mr. Sopwith delayed hoisting his protest flag on Saturday.—Reuter.

Kidnapper Suspect
Pleads Innocence New York, Sept. 25. Richard Hauptmann, held for his alleged part in the Lindbergh kidnapping and murder case, reiterated his plea of innocence to-day and asked his attorney, Mr. J. M. Fawcett, to appeal to the people to believe his story.

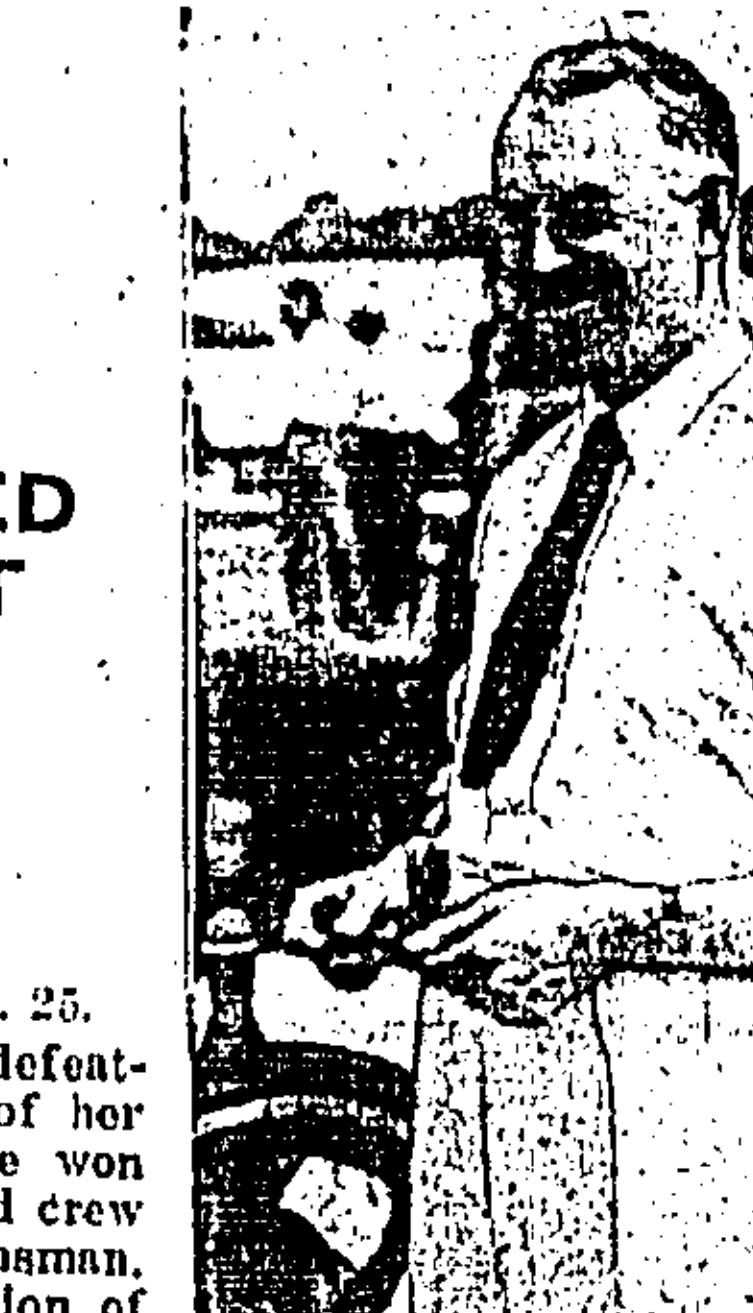

Meanwhile, the District Attorney, Mr. Samuel Foley, announced the preparation of an iron-bound case against the accused man.

He said a detective had found a board in a closet of Hauptmann's home upon which the address and telephone number of the notorious "Jafie" had been scrawled.

"Jafie" was the signature on the threatening letters sent Colonel Lindbergh after his baby had been abducted.

Investigations at Savannah, Ga., disclose that Hauptmann was the man who lived for a time on Tybee Island, near Savannah, in 1932 and 1933. He was accompanied by his wife and nephew at that time. The place was presumably a "hideout."

BRITISH CHAMPION IN DEMAND

WON'T TURN PROFESSIONAL

CONSIDERS HIS FIANCEE

(Special to "Telegraph") Los Angeles, Sept. 25. Fred Perry, who yesterday won the South-west Pacific Championship here, and who recently won the United States National, the Wimbledon and British Hard Courts titles, was today offered £20,000 by a Hollywood motion picture company to make a short series of tennis films.

The idea behind the offer was that Perry should appear in similar "shorts" as Bobby Jones, the famous golfer, recently made. They are instructive pictures and tremendously popular.

Perry, although it is known that he is more than willing to take up film work, refuses to do anything to jeopardize his amateur status and he told Reuter to-day that he had no intention at present of accepting proposals which would make him a professional.

WON'T PLAY TILDEN. Perry refused a $10,000 contract for a year's play against "Big Bill" Tilden, Ellsworth Vines and other leading professionals, only a few days ago. It was made when he was in New York, by Mr. Billy O'Brien, promoter of the Westchester Country Club.

One of the main reasons Perry will not consider professionalism, he says, is because he is planning to marry Miss Mary Lawson, the film actress, when his present world tour is completed. He does not feel it would be fair to her to professionalise his tennis.—Reuter Special.

"We Can Be Clean Without Being Prudish"

SITUATION PAINTED TOO BLACK?

"I am for clean pictures, but we can be clean without being prudish," says Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, in a statement in regard to the present attitude towards pictures of a doubtful nature.

"I have always been for clean pictures," he says. "It has ever been my endeavour to produce pictures that supply clean, wholesome entertainment."

"I am aware of the present widespread agitation against unclean movies. I believe the situation is being painted blacker than it really is. I think the average motion picture is clean and wholesome."

"There are some exceptions, I am sorry to say, but the exceptions are few indeed when you consider the great number of good pictures being turned out."

"I welcome constructive, helpful, honest criticism. I am against fanatical reform. We can be clean without being prudish. We should not read double meanings into every line of dialogue."

ARLISS GETS STUDIO TO HIMSELF.

George Arliss will have the Gaumont-British studio to himself while he rehearses "The Iron Duke." Otherwise, the whole place will be closed down for the summer holidays.

Nothing in filmdom is so thoroughly rehearsed beforehand as an Arliss picture.

Meanwhile, Victor Saville, the director, is working out ideas for improving on the original script, and the Gaumont-British research department is looking into the most intimate records of the period.

KARLOFF-LUGOSI THRILLERS.

Edgar Allan Poe's famous poem, "The Raven," and the same author's brilliant short story, "The Gold Bug," are to be combined in a Universal picture starring Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi. It is claimed that the film "will reveal for the first time the mystery behind the great love drama in the famous poem."

Following this production the Karloff-Lugosi team will make another thriller, "The Werewolf of London." A were wolf, according to an old superstition, was a human being changed into a wolf, but preserving its original intelligence.

MARLENE DIETRICH IN TUSSAUD'S.

One tribute to popularity is to be modelled in wax at Madame Tussaud's. Marlene Dietrich is the latest film star to achieve this distinction.

Florence Desmond, who performed the unveiling ceremony the other day, gave some impersonations of Marlene Dietrich and other American stars. The whole ceremony was broadcast throughout the United States.

CHELYUSKIN FILM.

Herr Eisenstein, the well-known Soviet film director, who was responsible for the photography of the film, "Thunder Over Mexico," has started work on a new film in Moscow. It will deal with the adventures of the Soviet steamer Chelyuskin, which was crushed by ice in the Arctic last December, and the aeroplane rescues of the crew.

ALISON SKIPWORTH.

Alison Skipworth, the Paramount comedienne, is leaving Hollywood soon for England, her native country. It will be her first holiday in thirty-six years.

"I'm going to take a thirty-day tour to start with," she declared.

A "BLACK EYE"

If a child receives a blow over the eye, which is likely to cause a "black eye," there is no better remedy than well buttering the parts for two or three inches around the eye with fresh butter, renewing it every few minutes for the space of an hour or two. If such be well and perseveringly done, the disagreeable appearance of a "black eye" will in all probability be prevented.

A capital remedy for a "black eye" is the arnica lotion. Take of tincture of arnica one ounce, water seven ounces, to make a lotion. The eye to be bathed, by means of a soft piece of linen rag, with this lotion frequently; and, between times, let a piece of linen rag, wetted in the lotion, be applied to the eye, and be fastened in its place by means of a bandage.

$10,000 PICTURE CONTRACT.

Miss Katharine Hepburn is reported to have signed a new contract, by which she will make six pictures during the next two years.

It is said that she will be paid $10,000 for each picture.

One of them, it is stated, will be entitled "The Gorgeous Hussy."

ACTRESS LOSES $10,000 SUIT.

Miss Beatrice Lillie (Lady Robert Peel), the well-known actress, has lost her $10,000 dollar ($10,000) suit against Warner Brothers and other persons, who, she alleged, had made unauthorized use in an abbreviated form of her "Show of Shows."

TO ACT WITH WIFE.

Elsa Lanchester, wife of Charles Laughton, has been chosen to play Countess Gabrielle de Polignac in Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's "Marie Antoinette" with her husband and Norma Shearer. "Marie Antoinette" is to be an Irving G. Thalberg production.

TRAINING OF CHILDREN

OVERCOMING FEAR NEEDS TACT

By Olive Roberts Barton

When a child is afraid of something, what are you going to do? Make fun of him, shove him at it, or bully him into a show of courage?

I wouldn't do any of them, simply because it won't be of any use.

Oh, yes, he may pretend to be braver, to laugh at a lot of water, or a dog, or a big bully of a boy. He may put up a grand front as he climbs up the dark stairs alone to bed. But these things do not mean the terror is not there just because he is trying to whistle up his courage. It is well-known that the violent effort to down a real fear by sheer force of will may make the trouble worse.

Before going into the matter of the constructive course to pursue, please let me digress for an instant.

ADULTS KNOW FEAR.

Why do we make such a fuss over the terrors of children when every adult on earth is chuck full of them? Perhaps you think you have none, that you are one of those martyrs of grit who is not "afraid of God or man."

All right. You had an abscessed tooth once. Last night you felt a similar twinge on the other side. Did you laugh it off or call the dentist?

Or you were up in an airplane we'll say, and the engine stopped. Below was fog and storm and a mountain. The pilot shouted, "Don't worry. We can only die once." I suppose you lighted a cigarette nonchalantly and belloved back, "Have you heard this one?"

We're all cowards under the skin, so shame on us for our bigger, better, holier-than-thou attitude toward children. Fear is natural. We're born with it, far fetched unnamable horrors, called obsessive fears (more intricate of nature), are still based on the same cause.

HOW TO HANDLE CHILD.

Now as to handling the timid child. Here are some rules.

Don't talk to him (or her) about his fear. Don't mention it at all. You may over-talk. And anyway, words mean nothing.

Never ridicule him or scold him. Don't undermine his self-respect and fertilize his inferiority by over-rating his fear. Why harp on one or two things when otherwise he is a dandy? Why not tell him he's a dandy?

Never, never "force" him into water, into the dark, at a dog, or up against a boy he is afraid of. You may regret it later if terror becomes shock and leaves a mental or emotional "scar" to haunt him forever.

TACT NECESSARY.

Use wit, kindness and tact. Homeopathic methods are best. The shallow puddle and the next day another inch or two may help him see reason about water. By degrees he may lose his fright over "big" water.

The same with the dark—light very, very gradually reduced. It may take weeks or even months. No dogs are necessary. His own experience will teach him in time that most animals may be trusted.

A big, bad brute of a boy? Never. Oh, yes, he should have other children beside namby-pamblers to play with and learn by degrees that he has to take his own part. But please spare the little fellow that other.

EXPERIMENTS IN REALM OF TELEPATHY

By DR. V. J. WOOLLEY

From time immemorial people have believed that they do on occasion receive messages from others by means which do not involve their ordinary senses.

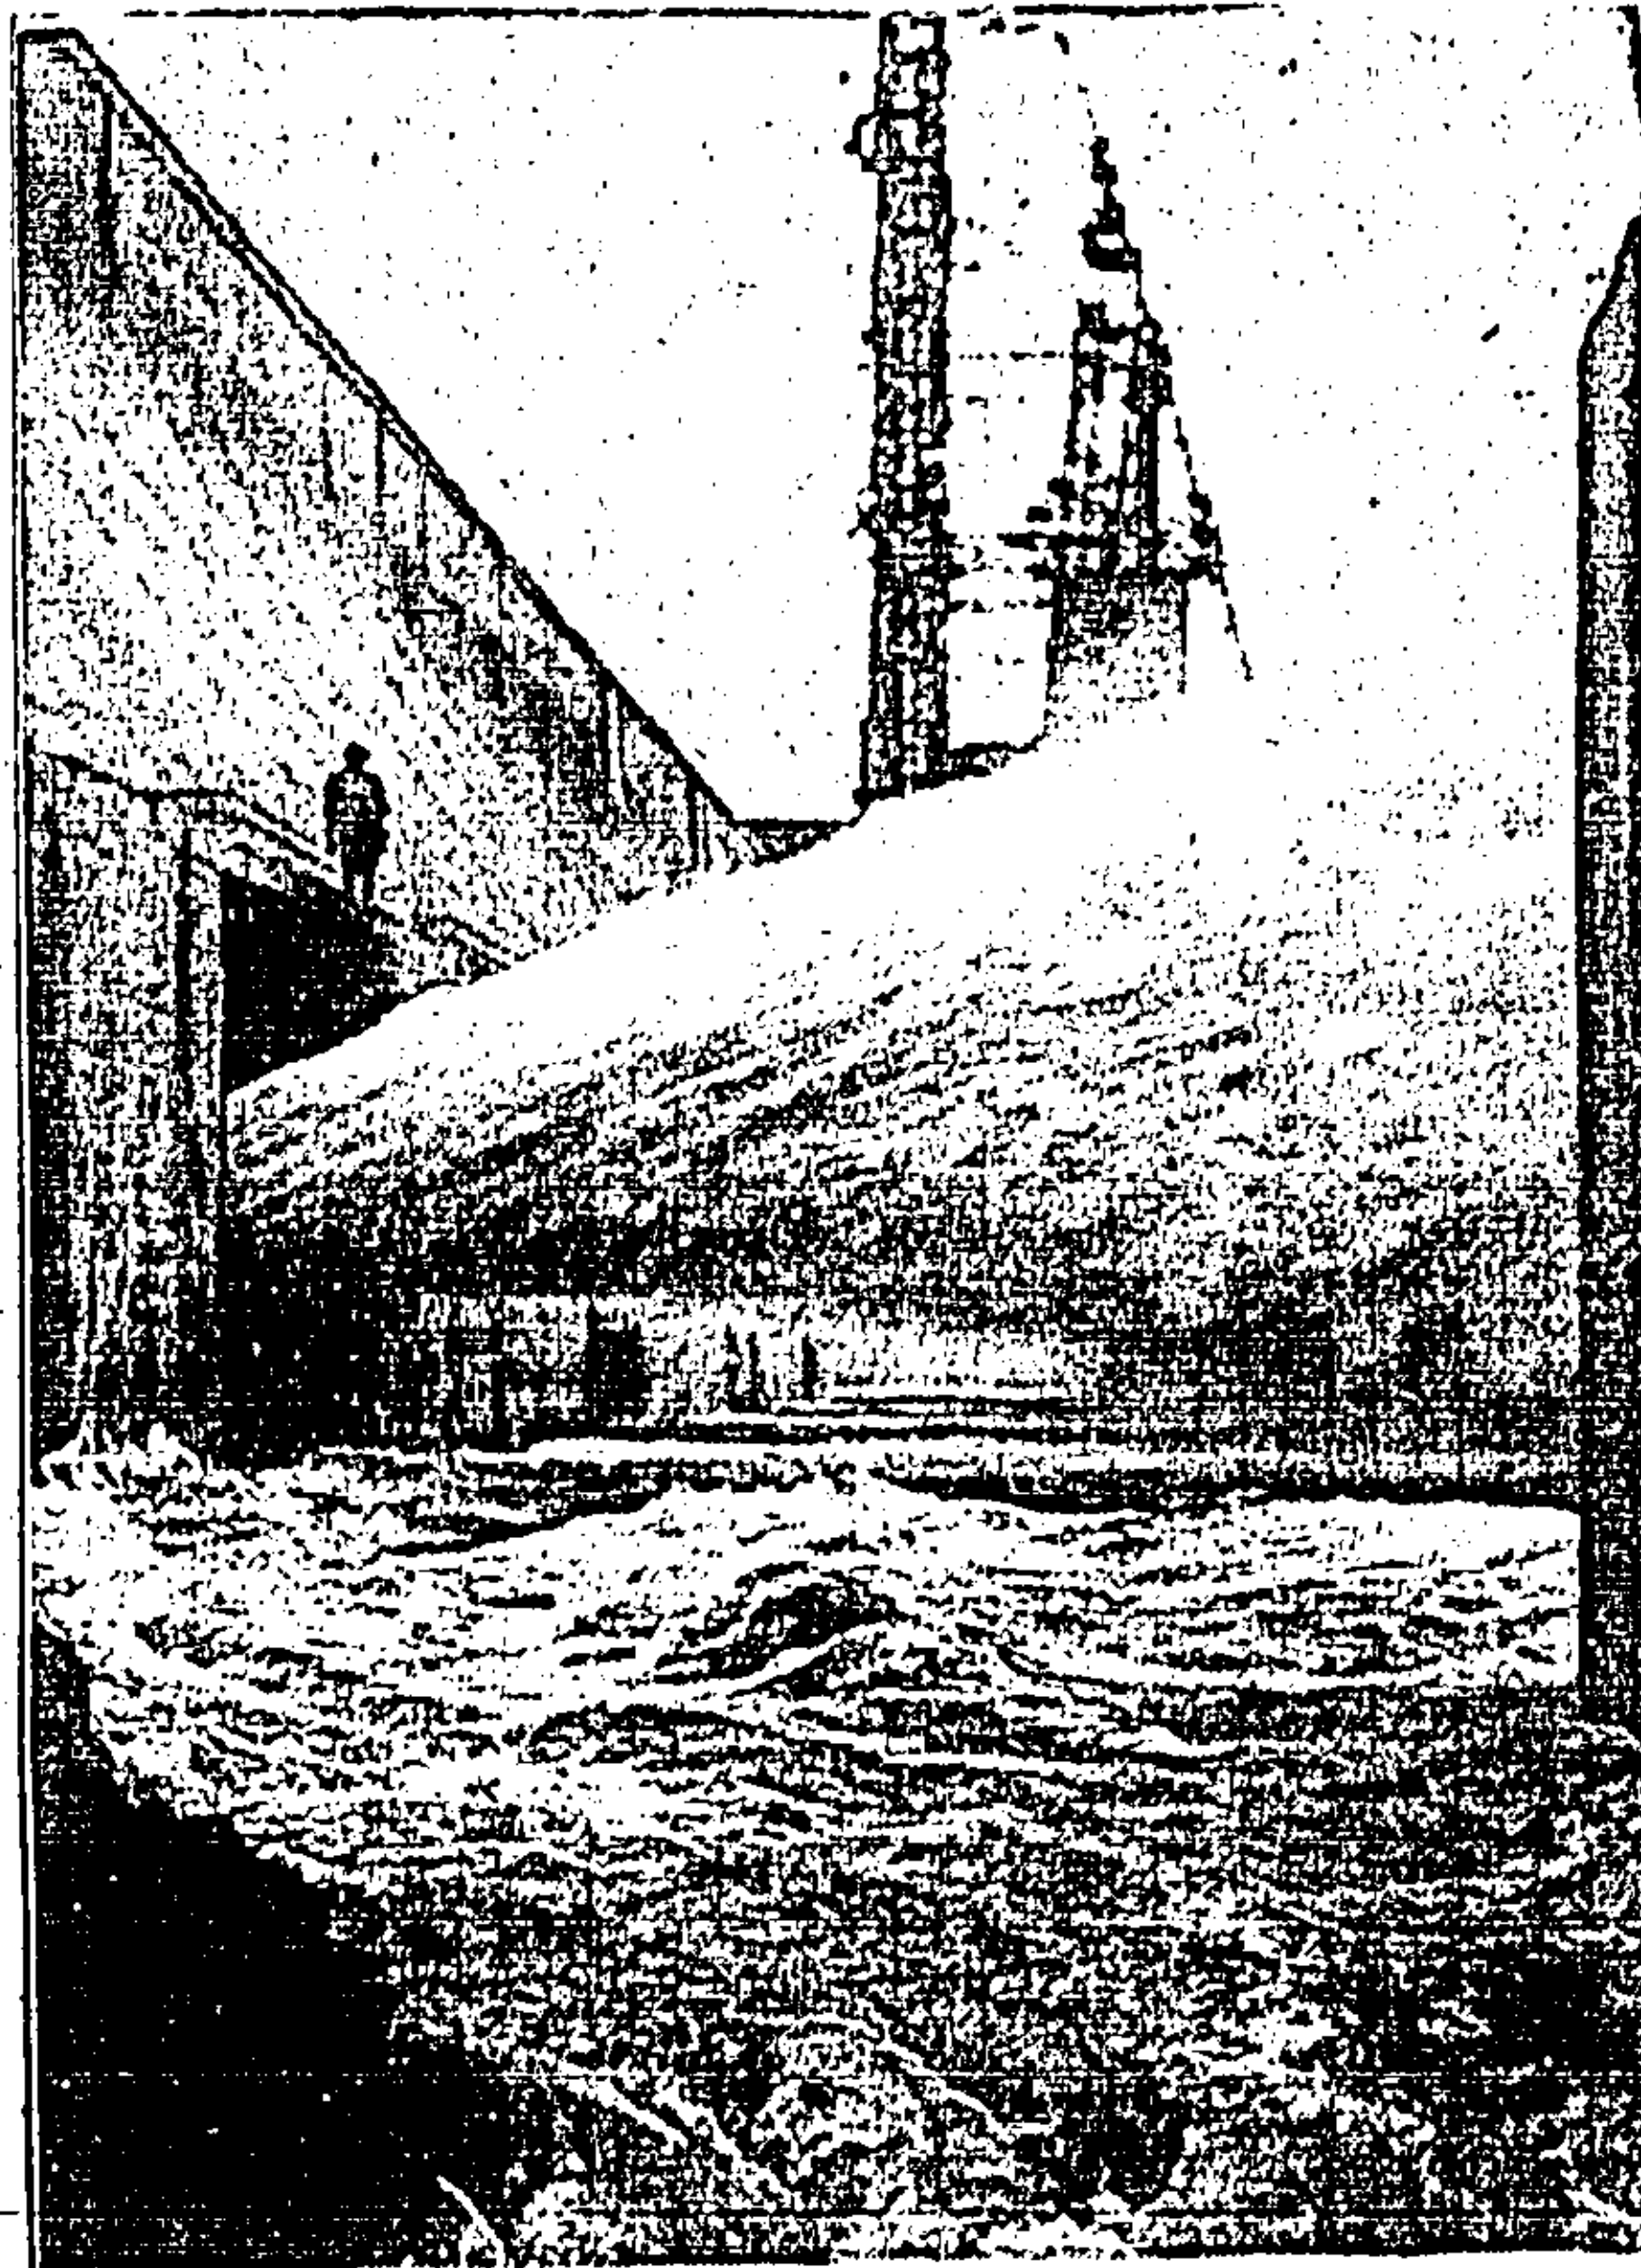

In old legend those means were most commonly their dreams, while in some races we find stories of events perceived by what is called "second sight." Nowadays the greater number of such experiences consist in a kind of waking vision of some important event occurring to a close friend of the one who experiences the vision.

About the actual occurrence of such visions it is impossible for anyone who reads the evidence to entertain any serious doubt, and it has been usual for students of the subject to attribute such a vision to a thought-message sent by the dying man to his friend. The expression "spontaneous telepathy" was used to describe them.

Perceptant are not in the same room. It is immaterial how far apart they are, and that the process is thus independent of distance.

During the last year or two a very prolonged series of experiments has been carried out by Dr. J. D. Rhine at Duke University, North Carolina, in which an attempt has been made, in my opinion successfully, to overcome the difficulty of computing the odds against a chance correct guess. He has confined his attempted transmissions to five simple diagrams, so that the chance of a correct guess is one in five. He has had the patience to carry out over 90,000 such experiments, and is still doing more.

Briefly, he finds that while some individuals have no gift at all, and reach only chance scores when tested, other subjects reach a result which is just a little better than pure chance would give. It

It took nine years to build this great Cauvery dam in India, one of the most remarkable engineering feats in history. It makes possible the cultivation of many thousands of acres of new land.

By now, however, many cases have been described in which no death was involved, and the supposed sender of the message is found to have no knowledge that any message was sent, or may even not be acquainted with the person who has the vision. It is argued that many at least of these "spontaneous" cases do not involve the sending of any message, but rather a curiously heightened sensitivity of perception on the part of the visionary, a sensitivity which would better be described as clairvoyance, or by the older term of "second sight."

In "spontaneous" visions there may be such wealth of detail, such unlikely but actual incidents perceived, that chance coincidence is made wholly inconceivable. In no experiments that I have heard of has any such complete success been reached. The most that can be hoped for is a strong probability, and that only after a vast number of experiments.

Many investigators have carried out experiments in which it has been sought to transmit a thought-picture of some diagram or number or word to one or more percipients. Some readers may recall such an experiment which I conducted some years ago for the Society for Psychical Research in conjunction with Sir Oliver Lodge and the B.B.C. In that experiment no evidence for telepathy was obtained, and was, I think, hardly to be expected.

But in experiments in which the agent and percipient have been close friends there has often been evidence for a true telepathic transmission. The value of that evidence has been very difficult, or impossible, to gauge, because it has been impossible to say what has been the odds against a guess being correct by pure chance.

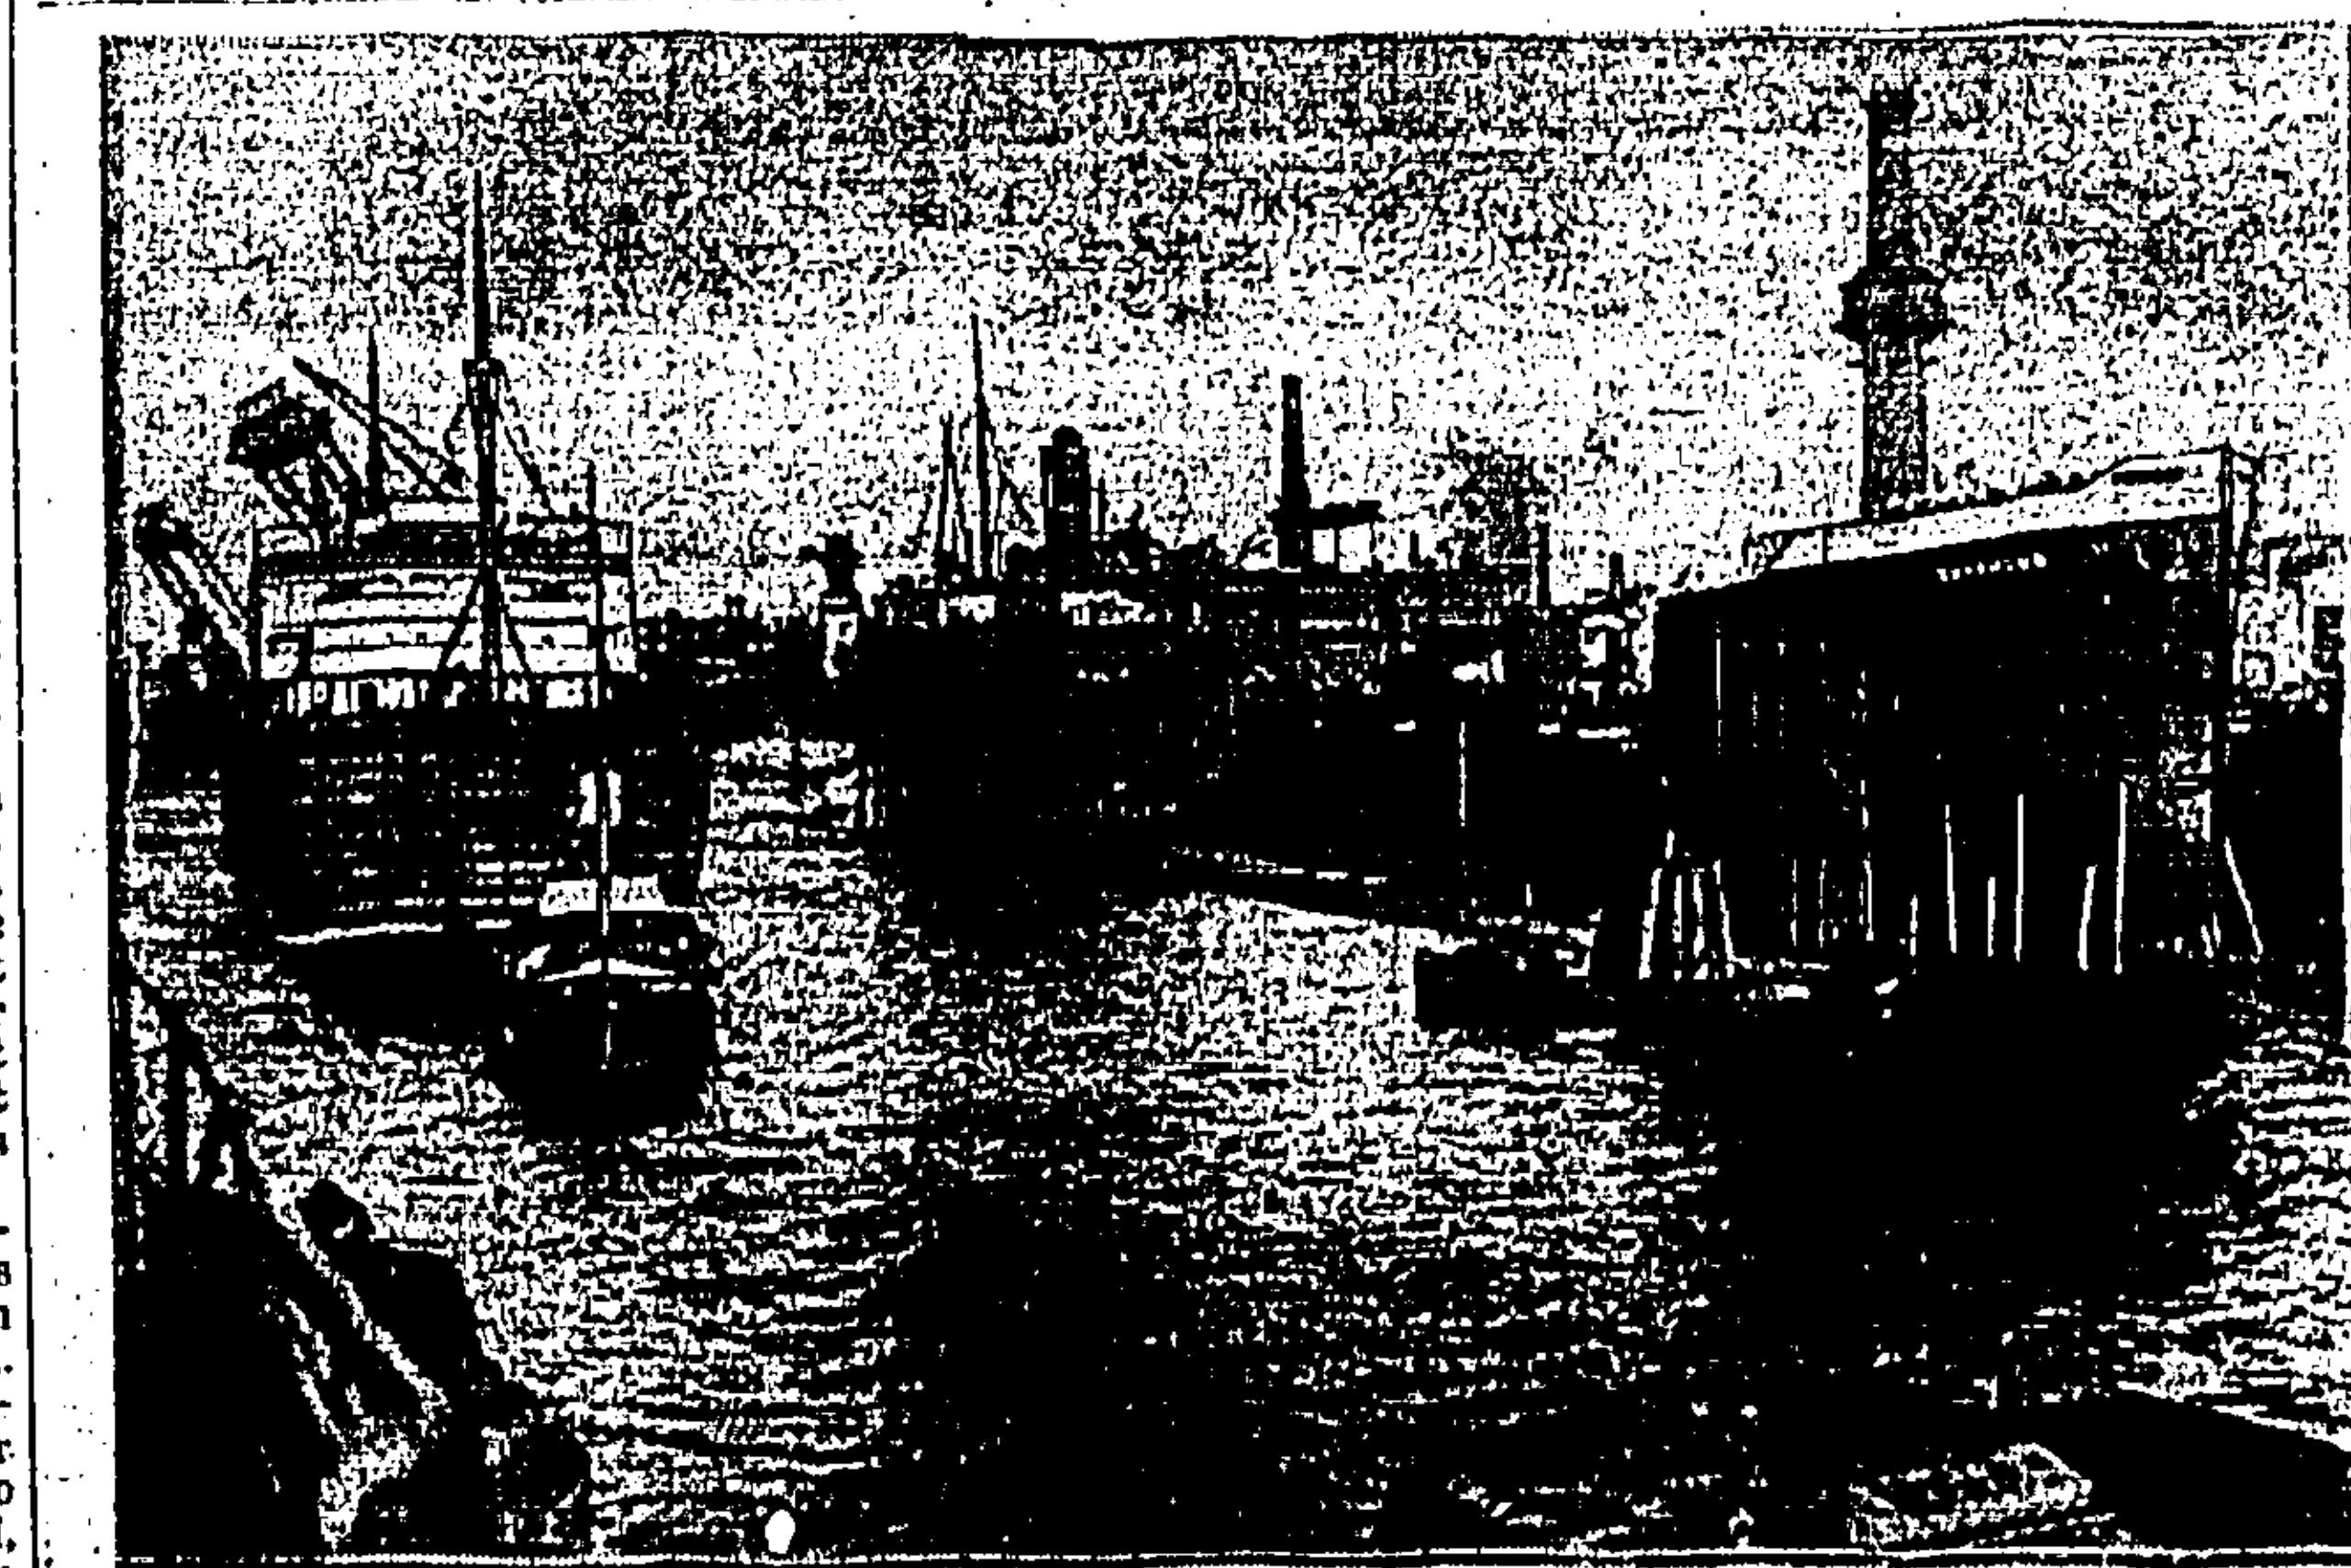

Notwithstanding these difficulties, however, such experiments have thrown a definite light on certain aspects of the problem. They have indicated first that different people vary greatly in their ability to receive and possibly to transmit such messages; second, that the same people vary greatly at different times; and, third, and is so little better that it would be overlooked unless a vast number of tests were made, but when they are made these results can be shown to have occurred against odds of hundreds of millions to one.

He has further found that the accuracy of the process is increased by substances which stimulate the brain, such as caffeine, and abolished by narcotics.

Like previous experimenters, he has tried the effect of increasing the distance between the agent and percipient, sometimes reaching 250 miles; and he finds that distance makes no difference to his results.

This last fact seems to me to be of the greatest importance if we wish to discover anything

Nothing is impossible to ship-builders these days. Here is a German-American tanker getting a hull. It is to be attached to the remoulded carrier hull.

"BURIED" MAN FOUND LIVING

MOTHER'S DISCOVERY AT HOSPITAL

A mistake in the identity of a man who had been buried after a motor accident, in which four persons had been killed and two injured, was revealed at Preston Infirmary when a mother, who believed that her son was the man who had been buried, stood beside a patient's bed and said "Harry, My son!" Harry Boocock, 34, of Wilberforce Street, Bradford, the man in bed, who had lately recovered from unconsciousness, smiled, and whispered "Mother!"

The man's wife, Hannah Boocock, was killed in the motor accident and was buried with the man thought to be her husband.

In the accident, a man stated to be Ronald Mackillop, was seriously injured, and his wife, Annie Mackillop, was killed. Doubts about this man's identity were raised by members of the Mackillop family who went to see him at the infirmary, and the police, suspecting that the man might really be Boocock, got into touch with Boocock's mother and brother, who travelled to the infirmary and immediately recognized him. It now appears that the man buried with Mrs. Boocock as her husband is Ronald Mackillop.

When the inquest on the bodies of the four persons killed in the accident was opened all the dead were identified by members of their respective families. The man believed to be Boocock was identified by his sister-in-law, and Mrs. Mackillop by her mother. The identification was rendered difficult, however, by the fact that all the victims had been severely injured about the head.

The burial of the man, who now appears to be Ronald Mackillop, and Mrs. Boocock took place at Bowling Cemetery, Bradford. The interment was a double one, Mrs. Mackillop being buried on the same day.

The two families are now waiting for official action, so that Mackillop may be reburied with his wife.

GIVE A COWBOY ENOUGH ROPE

AND HE'LL LASSO TROUBLE

A cowboy who had been appearing at a rodeo at Winnipeg was fined £2 because he lassoed a woman while she was watching the rodeo parade.

The cowboy's name was Eugene Pardee, and a charge of assault was laid against him by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wellwood, of Winnipeg. It was stated that Mrs. Wellwood was standing on a street corner as the cowboys rode past, when suddenly Pardee tossed his lasso over her and dragged her up to his horse.

about the method of transmission of these impressions. It is tempting at first to regard such a transmission as something like an electric vibration, like those of our wireless sets. But if we find that the transmission is independent of distance we are bound to discard such a view.

All the ordinary transmissions of energy diminish rapidly with increasing distance from their source. The telepathic transmission seems to take place in mental world where space no longer exists as it does in the physical universe.

But no descriptions of other people's experiments are as useful as those we make ourselves. I suggest a simple one which anybody who is interested could re-

CASABIANCA TO BE HONOURED

Hero Of L'Orient Remembered

It is announced that a French submarine of the 1930 programme which is now building and was to have been called the Casabianca is to receive instead the name Casabianca. The change was made at the suggestion of M. Pietri, the Minister of Marine, who considered that the names of North African towns were sufficiently represented already in the French Navy. M. Pietri prefers, as a good Corsican, to preserve the memory of his countryman, Captain Luce de Casabianca, whose small son "stood on the burning deck" of the Orient at the Battle of the Nile, as recorded by Mrs. Hemans in her poem. Two ships of the French Navy, a man-of-war which served from 1857 to 1877, and a mine-layer which was sunk in the Aegean in 1915 have previously borne the name.

M. Pietri has also settled a long controversy over the gender which should be given to French ships in quoting their names. A ship is regarded in France as masculine, and there have in the past been those who insisted on speaking of, for instance, "le Normandie" and "le Provence" when naming those ships, though those names are feminine. M. Pietri has now decreed that the definite article in such cases is to conform to the gender indicated by the ship's name, and that it is not to be omitted except in telegrams.

The experimenter chooses a number from one to five and tries to will that number into his subject's mind. If the subject thinks he has got it, he says what it is, and the experimenter notes "right" or "wrong" on paper. After trying twenty-five times, see whether there are more than five "rights."

Of course, there should be five by chance guessing, but if there are more, and if you repeat it with several more series of twenty-five, you may find that your subject gets regular scores of, say, six or seven, and, even without going as far as Dr. Rhine, you may satisfy yourselves that there is something in it.

EMPLOYER REBUKED

MISERABLE WAGE FOR CHAUFFEUR

Clapping greeted the Magistrate's rebuke at Liverpool, of a witness because of the low wage he had paid an employee.

The case was one in which Roland Evan Hughes (28), of Upper Huskisson Street, Liverpool, was summoned for embezzling £6, 18s. 7d. from his employer, Charles Pink, wholesale jeweller, Paradise Street, Liverpool.

Mr. J. H. Neville, on behalf of Hughes, said he was a married man with one child, and he took on the job of chauffeur to Mr. Pink for 25s. a week, being content to earn that small sum, rather than be on the "dole." As he had to work seven days a week, he was compelled to relinquish the position of church organist at £20 a year.

The Deputy Stipendiary, Mrs. S. C. V. Addinsell asked Mr. Pink how he came to employ a married man, 28 years of age, at 25s. a week.

Mr. Pink—That is the price he asked.

The Deputy Stipendiary, speaking with indignation—"Do you know what it costs a man to live? Do you think it is a decent thing to employ a man for a week of seven days at such a rate? I am going to punish this man."

Mr. Pink—I don't want that, but you can do as you like.

The Deputy Stipendiary—Don't be impertinent. So far as you are concerned I only regret he has not taken more of your money than he has. (This remark was greeted with hand-clapping from the spectators' gallery.) You have been asking for it.

Addressing Hughes, the Deputy Stipendiary said the wage he was receiving was grossly inadequate, but that did not justify him taking his employer's goods.

Defendant was bound over.

MEMORIAL TO CAPT. COOK

GRANITE FROM AUSTRALIA

Thirty-nine blocks of granite, hewn from the rocks of Cape Everard, Victoria, the first point of Australia sighted by Captain James Cook, the Yorkshire navigator, arrived at Hull last night in the steamer Cormorant.

The granite blocks will be erected as an obelisk in memory of Captain Cook at Great Ayton, in North Yorkshire, on the site of the cottage which was his former home. The cottage itself was taken down and shipped from Hull to Australia, where it has been re-erected in Melbourne.

This will add to the monuments which exist in memory of the famous sailor; on the heights of Easby Moor stands a monument erected to his memory in 1827 by Robert Campion of Whitby, and there is also a memorial to several members of Captain Cook's family in the churchyard of Great Ayton, which is said to have been carved by Captain Cook and his father, who was a working stonemason.

IN OUR WINDOWS THIS WEEK

we are showing three kinds of light weight dress shirts, each one suitable for the present humid weather, each one undoubtedly correct.

- A soft pique fronted shirt with two soft collars to match, as now being worn at the Ambassadors Club, London.
- A shirt with soft marcella or pique front and cuffs with a light weight body.
- A stiff fronted shirt of extra light weight, most suitable for mess wear or the more formal 'tween season functions.

CORRESPONDENCE

Boys Complain

The Editor, Hongkong Telegraph.
Sir—I have been asked by many of my fellow-students to express, through the medium of your esteemed paper, their displeasure at the treatment of the King's Theatre's management towards the boy students during the special matinees of the "Karakota."

Above all, there was no booking, and when tickets were bought by a school representative there was no notification as to what seats that school's students should occupy. Consequently, the students presumed that they might take any vacant seats in the theatre. Some boys therefore went to the theatre early and filled in the dress circle seats. However, they were later dragged out and saw their seats being taken up by girls, teachers, and religious people. What does this mean? Is the girls' teachers and religious people's money better than the boys' money, or more worth? All paid 30 cents each. Why should there be a distinction?

the same, and out of school hours boys and teachers are friends.

The theatre management reserved a certain section for one college when there were no reservations for other colleges; and at another moment they let a mixed crowd swell in that section. No wonder there were so many quarrels between some boys and the ushers. Many students were dragged from one extremity of the theatre to the other—from the back-lines of back stall to the front-lines of front stall, and they were good-natured enough to obey the ushers' instructions. Again, some small boys were put two in a seat when they paid two seats' worth.

After all, it is the boy students that gave the greatest patronage to the theatre at these performances; but had to say, they were given the poorest accommodations and the most unsatisfactory treatment. Our boys do not expect nor wish to have better treatment than the girls; but should like to see that the fair policy, "First come, first served" be held by the management. Will the management apologize to our boy students?

WOMAN HIDES MUI-TSAI

WHEN INSPECTOR PAYS VISIT

Allegations that the girl had been concealed behind a door when he visited the house on September 10, and that the defendant had denied the existence of such a mui-tai there, were made by Sub-Inspector H. W. Fraser, when he summoned Wong Shuet-tan, married woman, residing at No. 114 Calma Road, for keeping an unregistered mui-tai, before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning.

Sub-inspector Fraser said that on the following day, the girl, Ho Yuet, alias Fung Ho, came to his office and said she was a mui-tai, and that she had been instructed by defendant to hide behind the door when he paid his visit. The following evening defendant is said to have scolded the girl for having reported. The defendant was the eighth concubine. The girl was sold for $120 to meet the expenses of her mother's confinement. She had been exceptionally well treated by defendant, and defendant had also been very kind to her mother.

Mr. Hamilton: You are greatly at fault in trying to conceal the girl. It is very fortunate you have been kind to the girl and her mother. If not for that, I should seriously consider sending you to prison without the option of a fine. I also understood the girl is being sent back to her mother. I fine you $100, or in default two months' imprisonment.

FOREIGNERS FIRED ON BY SOLDIERS

Shanghai, Sept. 25.
A party of English and American residents who were in a houseboat up-country this week-end narrowly escaped death when they were fired on by Chinese soldiers.

Two members of the party, Miss Vida Peach, a member of Reuter's staff, and Mr. Edmund Lewis, were walking in the moonlight along the Railway embankment 30 miles up the river when they were challenged by the soldiers. They stood still and replied that they were foreigners, whereupon the soldiers fired several rounds.

Miss Peach and Mr. Lewis took cover and, when the firing ceased, made a race for the houseboat which was moored in a nearby creek.

The party then set sail for Shanghai.—Reuter.

ITALIAN VISITOR FINED

POSSESSION OF A REVOLVER

Renato Spera, an Italian, described as a journalist, was fined $25 by Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning, on a summons of having possession of a Luger automatic pistol without a licence at the Repulse Bay Hotel.

Defendant said he brought the pistol with him from Italy on the Conte Rosso. It was his father's, and he had kept it in an armory in his room at the Hotel.

Acting Inspector A. V. Baker said defendant arrived on September 10, and went to the Repulse Bay Hotel. On September 16 he complained that his room was in disorder, and that somebody had been searching his trunk. The police went there, and discovered the revolver. He had been instructed to ask for the confiscation of the revolver and a small fine.

Mr. Hamilton asked defendant whether he attached any sentimental value to the revolver, as it was his father's, and defendant replied in the affirmative.

Mr. Hamilton: I think you should try to persuade the police to give you a licence for it. I will ask the police to let you have your licence.

A fine of $25 was imposed, but no confiscation order was made.

POLICE DISPERSE CROWD

FREE SWEET OFFER INCIDENT

A notice appearing in a Chinese newspaper, announcing the distribution of 100,000 free packets of sweets, by the Auw Pit Seng's Trading Co., Ltd., of the French Bank Building, third floor, was the cause of lively scenes this morning, when police assistance had to be called to scatter a large crowd of Chinese, who had gathered in the hope of getting something for nothing.

It was revealed that an error had been made in the advertisement, and that only 10,000 packets of sweets were being distributed. This number had already been distributed, as the advertisement had appeared yesterday morning.

The crowd, upon learning that no more sweets were being distributed, began to get restive, and the manager of the firm, fearing that there would be trouble, telephoned for police assistance. After the arrival of the police, the crowd was quickly dispersed.

RETIRE FROM ARMY TO WRITE MEMOIRS

Berlin, Sept. 25.
Colonel Hindenburg, son of the late President of the German Republic will retire from the German army on September 30, with the rank of Major-General.

It is understood Colonel Hindenburg wishes to retire in order to devote himself to farming and writing his memoirs.

The Colonel never played a prominent role in the Reichswehr. His duties as aide-de-camp to his father occupied most of his time.—Reuter Special.

A novel and interesting programme had been prepared for Madame Lottie Gordon's Australian concert at the China Fleet Theatre to-night in aid of the Blind Girls Home, Pokfulam, the Navy Benevolent Fund and the Empire Link Young Artists Fund. ## DOG-OWNERS IN COURT

POLICE EVIDENCE QUERIED

Several Europeans figured in summonses in respect of dogs heard by Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning.

Mrs. J. Wells, of No. 6 Village Road, was cautioned on a summons for having no licence for her dog. It was stated by the defendant that she took out a licence the following day.

E. Garneys, of No. 12, Magazine Gap Road, was fined $8 for allowing his dog wander unmuzzled and unleashed. P.C. Dewar stated the dog had been inoculated against rabies.

EVIDENCE CONFLICTS.

A summons against Mrs. M. Rapp, of No. 40 Kennedy Road, for allowing her brown chow dog out without a muzzle, was adjourned for one week for further evidence to be brought.

"My dog is a cream chow dog," said defendant. "It is kept indoors all the time except when it is taken out on a lead three times a day. On the morning in question I went to the eight o'clock service and the dog was in my room. On my return I found it as I had left it."

An Indian constable stated that he saw the dog wandering unmuzzled in Kennedy Road. He followed the animal and it went to the verandah of No. 38 Kennedy Road.

Mrs. Rapp: There is no dog in house No. 38.

ANOTHER DISPUTE.

C. S. Rossetti, of No. 16 Dragon Terrace, answering a similar summons, said he questioned the identity of the dog. He admitted having a black chow dog, but there were other black dogs in the neighbourhood.

A Chinese sergeant stated he saw the dog, a black chow, wandering in Causeway Bay Road. He followed it up to the second floor of No. 16 Dragon Terrace. The amah told him that the dog was usually housed on the roof and had probably run downstairs. She said her master's name was Rossetti.

His Worship adjourned the case for the evidence of the amah.

SHIP CAPTAIN FINED

KEPT THE POLICE WAITING

"That is the trouble, making the police stand by," said Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, when Captain D. M. Hood, of the s.s. Hong Kheng, was fined $25, for not sailing at the time notified on September 9.

Defendant stated that he had that day arrived in port and discharged a lot of cargo. At the last moment he received special instructions to discharge another 1,500 bags, which took an hour to do. The police came aboard to search the boat at 4 p.m., but because of the extra work, which delayed the sailing, the police had to stand by.

His Worship in dining defendant and it wastes a lot of time and money, keeping the police standing by. I'm afraid I shall have to fine you, as we have to be very careful of this sort of thing.

SOPWITH'S FAREWELL

that this time the protest would be upheld by the Race Committee. Mr. Sopwith, however, is making preparations to leave Newport, together with the yacht Vita, immediately.

He made one more comment on the last race. "Having had the best start and being fairly beaten, I decided not to proceed with the protest, although it was for the same reason as Saturday's," he said.

He was coldly non-committal regarding his feelings towards the Race Committee and indicated that he was "fed up" with the whole situation, since his first protest had been turned down, unheard.

Mr. Harold Vanderbilt, Rainbow's owner, refused to discuss his reason for holding a protest signal but admitted the alleged foul, which occurred before the yacht's crossing the starting line. He said he did not know definitely, but was under the impression that he protested first.

He refused to say whether or not he had filed a protest. The Rainbow, he added, had sailed under a disadvantage, using the Yankee's spinnaker, and had not used it to-day or yesterday.

HOME POLITICS

The impending reassembly of Parliament is giving rise to speculation at Home as to the precise time the Government will choose to make an appeal to the country. There is a suggestion that the General Election could with advantage take place in the autumn of next year, but a feeling also prevails that it might be better tactics to postpone the dissolution until the following spring, as the Chancellor of the Exchequer would then be given an opportunity of introducing two popular Budgets. There is, of course, no reason why the Government should make an early appeal to the electors, unless it be the known divisions which have sprung up in both the Labour and Liberal Parties. With the Opposition divided, the chances of the National Government being returned to power would be enhanced. There have recently been some attempts to get the Liberal and Labour executives to agree to a working agreement in the next General Election, in the hope that National candidates will be prevented from securing victories in certain constituencies by reason of a split in the Progressive vote, but so far no definite understanding has been reached. Indeed, at the Liberal Summer School at which this issue was the predominant one, one of the Labour visitors, a candidate for Parliament, bluntly declared that a far better alternative would be for the Liberals to take a bold step and merge themselves in the Labour Party. This idea is not quite so far-fetched as might seem at first sight, since it has become increasingly apparent in bye-elections that the Liberal Party continues on the decline. If recent indications can be taken as a guide, indeed, it seems that the Liberals are in distinct danger of complete extinction as a separate political unit. The tendency may be regretted, but it will have to be faced in course of time. When all is said and done, there is very little real difference between Liberal ideals and those of the moderate controlling element in the Labour Party. With regard to internal discussion, this is not nearly so marked in the case of the Labourites as it is with the

NOTES OF THE DAY

BRITAIN'S CHALLENGE

To-day, for the first time in British history, a Queen of England will christen a merchant ship. But what a ship! The new Cunard-White Star liner, No. 534 until this afternoon, but probably to be named Britannia, by the Queen, as the vessel slips into the Clyde, is the largest thing afloat. She will be something over 83,000 tons when completed, 1,018 feet in length, eleven decks towering up from her waterline. Her speed will be something around 30 knots, and will enable her to make the Atlantic crossing in four days with ease. There is a chance that the huge ship will tour the British Empire before she goes into scheduled sailings, and it is therefore possible that Hongkong may have a view of her.

RICH PRIZES

Cunard-White Star will have the two biggest vessels afloat when Britannia's sister-ship is launched, and plans are already well advanced for her construction. It is even before Britannia's sister is ready for work, the race for Atlantic prizes, with the Europa and Bremen, France with her nearly-completed Normandie, Italy with her luxury liners, all are bidding for the cream of the trans-oceanic trade, the rich passenger bookings and big mail subsidies. The fastest vessels get such plums. Britannia, when Britannia and her sister-ship are sailing together, should fill her basket.

COST OF INDEPENDENCE

The ardent Mr. de Valera, with his doctrines of independence for the Free State, may presently force the exodus of at least one of the greatest of Irish industries. Arthur Guinness, Son & Co., Dublin, is to open a branch brewery near London, in any event, and in the future the entire plant may be removed to Britain. The removal project has been discussed ever since Mr. de Valera assumed power. The firm's trade lies mostly outside the Free State. It does not wish to be separated from the British fiscal system and it is fairly certain that if the Free State seceded from the Empire, Guinness would "secede" from the Free State. It is a preliminary to the possibility of secession that 25 per cent. of the Guinness plant is going "over the water."

UNEMPLOYMENT

The loss to Dublin will be felt immediately. Six keeves of the Dublin brewery are being moved to London, which will leave 18 in Ireland. Despite the fact that the business is extending so rapidly, employees of the brewery in the Free State will suffer loss of time. To give an idea of the earnings and expenditures of the company, in a good year Guinness has paid £16,000,000 in Government duty. Its peak sales in a year run into 115,000,000 gallons of porter and stout. Some 14,000 persons in Dublin depend upon the company for a livelihood at the present time. The firm is distinctly Irish, Lord Iveagh, like his father, being a Chancellor of Dublin University, and for the past six generations the family has been connected with the Irish capital. But business is business, as Mr. de Valera would be the first to admit, and they may not stay.

mists led by Sir Stafford Cripps look like creating trouble for the Party as a whole. So far as the National Government is concerned, it has a record of which it need not feel ashamed. It has straightened out the national finances and its general economic policy has without doubt contributed to the better state of affairs now prevailing. The unemployment problem has, admittedly, not been solved, but any real impression on this issue will have to await the general improvement in world conditions. With the working-classes, the Government is not too popular, due to a feeling that the Conservative element in the Administration has dominated the situation to such an extent that the masses have not received a full share of consideration in the sphere of domestic legislation. It is conceivable, however, that the Government, during the remaining period of its tenure of office, will make an effort to placate the working-classes, possibly by making Budget concessions in their favour. No-one can say at this stage what the likely fate of the Government will be at the next election, but if the cards are skillfully played, there is no reason why it should not receive a vote of continued confidence from the electors.

SPAIN'S FOUNDATIONS TREMBLE AGAIN

By A. EDDY

Since the disappearance of authority in the person of King Alfonso the rumblings of the underground forces tearing the foundations of the Spanish Republic asunder have become more and more pronounced.

The economic depression intensified by the recent elevation of customs barriers against Spanish agricultural products in the neighbouring countries; the almost complete disappearance of overseas remittances from Latin America and the thousands of continually returning destitute Spaniards from Central and South America, have aggravated the employment problem tremendously. Perhaps the most hospitable country in Europe, Spain was the last one to prohibit the employing of newly arrived foreigners in the country's industries and commerce.

All the above factors, however, are only the contributory causes of a chronic economic and political "malstar" or unhealthy condition, the roots of which lead us back to the policy of the former ruling house, as well as to the boom conditions of the war—and early after the war period.

The standard of living of the Spanish worker in the pre-war days was much below that of the Western European countries and a large percentage of the land was concentrated in the hands of the aristocrats and the Church who, as in Hungary, constitute at present the royalist party pining for the return of the king.

The badly organised and unsuccessful attempt of General Sanjurjo in 1932 to seize the power "to put an end to the foreign influence in Spain" (this refers to imported radical theories) was manoeuvred and financed by them, and indications show that, although out of the open political game for the time being, they are still a powerful factor in the national life of Spain.

Spain, with the exception of Catalonia and the region of Bilbao (Basque country) is chiefly an agricultural state. During the war, however, there was a great demand for agricultural as well as manufactured products by the Allies and her industries developed partly to supply that demand and partly to step into the shoes of European exporters in the Latin-American markets. The origin of many manufactured articles advertised as "product of Spain," especially textile goods, sold in Latin-America during the war was traceable to sunny Spain, whose merchants enjoyed a golden shower coming from the warring factions and from hungry overseas importers clamouring for goods at any price.

The post war period found Spain with large stocks of low quality manufactured goods and a comparatively overdeveloped industry unable to hold its own in face of the resumption of exports by the Allies, Germany and Japan, with depreciated currencies as compared to the high value of the peseta at that time. The resulting shrinkage in trade and agricultural activity is one of the immediate causes responsible for the restricted economic activity in Spain. Like most countries where boom conditions prevailed during the war, Spain failed to adjust her production to normal conditions and is now suffering the consequences as experienced in other lands under similar conditions.

The Wilsonian principle of self-determination of the small nations has added a new impetus to the slumbering ambitions of the different nationalities in Spain and further complicated the cause of peace on the Iberian Peninsula. After the Catalans, there are the Basques and Gallegos who want autonomy. Living in the mountainous regions of the Bay of Biscay, the Basques, Europe's oldest inhabitants, whose language has no resemblance to any other European tongue and who were the only people able to completely withstand the effects of the Roman civilisation, lived their own national life and had their original customs up to the last century. However, they had to succumb to the relentless centralising policy of the Bourbon dynasty, with whose removal the flame of national life has become again active.

The Gallegos, occupying the Northwestern corner of Spain and having a strong racial and cultural affinity with the Portuguese, also clamour for autonomy. Even the Asturians, (Middle North of Spain), Andalusians and Valencians (these last also have a different language, which was the native tongue of Blasco Ibañez) voice now then their desire to break away from the authority of Madrid, which, in their opinion, represent the old type hidalgos element still savouring of feudalism.

The labour organisations in Spain have always been of a distinct type (influenced by the Italian anarchist writer Malatesta) from the rest of Europe. Academically and individually great politicians, practically and collectively the workers in Spain are against politics as a means of solving the social question.

How strong the anarcho-syndicalists (organised into purely economic federations) had become during the War was remarkably proven by the occasional general strikes staged by them, completely paralysing the economic activity of the entire country. Their power has declined considerably during the last few years and many of the recent labour movements have been organised by agitators of the Soviet school. The Spanish labourers, in general, however, accept the principles of the Marxists, but not the tactics employed by them.

The industrial districts of Barcelona and Bilbao are saturated with syndicalist tendencies, while the communally-minded agrarians are active mostly in Southern Spain, especially in Andalusia where large tracts of land are now being exploited by the workers themselves, who turn over to the landlord only a small portion of the crops collected.

The political tug-of-war in Spain to-day is between the still persisting feudal spirit (which exists notwithstanding the numerous social and land reforms) and the rising power of the agrarian and industrial workers in the country. It is very doubtful whether by adopting a more liberal and decentralising policy and organising the Government along federal lines, Madrid will be able to forestall a revolution which has been hanging over Spain like the sword of Damocles for the last three years.

BRITAIN'S MAMMOTH OF THE SEAS.—How the Cunarder, which is being launched to-day by Her Majesty the Queen, will look when completed. She will be 1,018 feet long and of nearly 83,000 tons gross, with a speed of 30 knots.

LARGE SUM FOR MALARIAL WORK

NEW VOTES COME UP TO-MORROW

LONGER HOURS AT H.K. MAGISTRACY

Five votes totalling $73,540 are to come before the Finance Committee of the Legislative Council to-morrow afternoon. The biggest sum is $57,000, for anti-malarial work. It is explained that it has become necessary to resume a larger number of privately owned agricultural lots in the Shouson Hill District, where anti-malaria works are to be carried out. The compensation payable to the owners is estimated at $67,000. Negotiations for an exchange of land in a few cases are proceeding, which, if brought to completion will reduce this sum by about $1,500. The funds provided under this vote have been fully allocated for works under construction in various districts, and a supplementary vote is therefore requested.

PRAYA WALLS.

Another vote is for $10,000 for maintenance of Praya walls and piers.

Owing to the addition of new works in past years an increased amount of maintenance requires to be undertaken. Commitment of repair works in hand and expenditure to date amount to approximately $12,000 and it is estimated that a further sum of $5,000 is required so that the necessary maintenance may be proceeded with until the end of the year.

Repairs to the fendering of the ferry pier at Jordan Road have been carried out and the sum of $4,776.83 on this account was charged to Loan Funds. It is considered that this expenditure should more properly have been charged to Public Works Recurrent Head 33 Sub-head 14 Item I, and additional funds are required for this purpose.

A supplementary vote for $10,000 ($5,000 plus $4,776.83 say $5,000) is therefore requested.

NEW PIGGERIES.

A sum of $3,500 is required for laying and constructing an area for matched piggeries at Kennedy Town.

It is proposed to move the pig dealers' matches, which are situated at Kennedy Town near the dangerous goods godowns of the China Provident Loan and Mortgage Co., Ltd., to a new site, further west of Cadogan Street, as the proximity of matches to dangerous goods godowns is not desirable.

On sanitary grounds, it is necessary to concrete the new area and form channels etc. The cost of the work is estimated to be $3,500 which sum has not been allowed for in the current year's estimates.

OTHER VOTES.

A further vote is for $3,000 for incidental expenses at the Supreme Court. Owing to a further increase in distraints, executions, etc., a greater number of watchmen than was anticipated, the provision made under this head is insufficient. The revenue derived from this source increases proportionately and is expected to yield approximately $29,000 for the full year.

A sum of $40 is needed for electric fans and lights at the Hong Kong Magistracy. The provision in the Estimates is insufficient to meet the cost of electric current for fans and lights to the end of the year owing to longer working hours.

Li Pui, an accountant, who struck a youth of 14 years of age, a severe blow across the arm with a feather duster, was fined $15 when he pleaded guilty before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Magistracy this morning to a charge of assault. Sub-Inspector McEwen stated that according to the defendant's story they were sweeping under the counter of the shop when a number of boys ran in and began picking up ten-cent pieces.

QUEEN MARY TO CHRISTEN NEW RECORD-BREAKING LINER

NAME STILL KEPT CLOSE SECRET

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, Sept. 26, 8.56 a.m.)

London, Sept. 25.

The best-kept secret of modern times is the name of the gigantic Cunard-White Star liner, No. 534. Nor will it be divulged one moment before Her Majesty the Queen herself utters it at 2.10 p.m. to-morrow (G.M.T.) as she christens the greatest steamship ever built.

Every vantage point along the Clyde is occupied already by improvised grandstands. The scene is like that of a colossal arena, accommodating hundreds of thousands of people.

The ceremony will be broadcast to the whole of the British Empire.

There will be a few tense moments when the 80,000-ton liner slides into the Clyde. For there is just enough space to accommodate her great length.

Her plunge into the river will create a minor tidal wave which will be felt for several miles.

Engineers have spent months calculating and allowing for physical reactions, and are now praying only for fine weather and no hitches in the proceedings.

Mr. Donald Skiffington, who is solely responsible for the final decision regarding the launching, told Reuters: "Take it from me, it will be all right."—Reuter Special.

WEATHER PROMISING.

London, Sept. 25.

Weather conditions promise to be good for to-morrow's launching of the Cunarder No. 534. All preparations are now completed for the ceremony which has filled Glasgow with visitors from all over Britain. The Queen will launch the great vessel by pressing three buttons—one to release a bottle of wine which will be smashed against bows, another to release the holding apparatus and a third to operate hydraulic driving rams. At this point 40,000 tons of fashioned steel, steadied by 250 tons of drag chains, will begin its slow two-minute run down a greased slipway into the Clyde.—British Wireless.

London, Sept. 25. The biggest ship in the world's history will be launched to-morrow. The latest mammoth contender for the Blue Riband of the North Atlantic takes the water in the Clyde.

This newest British shipping threat will receive a truly royal send-off. For the first time in her life, Her Majesty the Queen of England will officiate at a ship's christening.

At exactly 3.15 p.m. (G.M.T.) Her Majesty will crack a bottle of wine over the lofty bows of the new Cunarder, and will name her. High up on a platform in front of the ship, with H.M. King George standing at her side, the Queen will press a button, and 40,000 tons of ocean giant will slide down the greased ways. Huge chains, each weighing a thousand tons, will drag at her sides so that the boat will not enter the narrow river at too great a speed.

TIMED TO SECOND.

Months of preparation have preceded the launching. It is timed to the fraction of a second in order to obtain the most favourable tide of the autumn. Every inch of water was needed, for the Mersey at this point is only 700 feet wide, while the ship measures 1,018 feet over all.

But to bring back Britain's prestige on the high seas by beating fat mail contracts that go to the nation with the fleet and fastest ships.

The suspension of work on the ship, which lasted for nearly a year and a half, throwing more than 3,000 men out of work; and the period of uncertainty over its fate which followed, hurt British pride almost as much as the necessity for abandoning the gold standard.

PRESSED BY SUBSIDIES.

It came at a time when the nation was striving against almost hopeless odds to re-establish its shipbuilding industry in the face of increasing, heavily subsidised shipping competition of foreign nations. Strong criticism was directed at London's bankers for declining to furnish the money necessary for the boat's completion.

The British Government came to the rescue and but the recently merged Cunard-White Star organisation sufficient money to complete the vessel and part of the cost of a sister ship. The money was lent without profit to the Government.

The new liner herself will have cost approximately £9,000,000 when completed. The four immense propellers cost £9,000 each, and the propeller shaft itself is longer than the entire length of the first Britannia, built by the Cunard line.

FLOATING CITY.

The promenade deck of the floating city is 750 feet long, and accommodation includes a moving picture house, a theatre with full proscenium and dressing rooms, swimming pools, Turkish, Russian and other remedial baths, gymnasiums and beauty parlours.

There will be a garage capable of accommodating scores of cars, and the passengers will be able to drive from the deck on to the landing stage at New York. Magnificent saloons and apartments have been designed by Mr. Benjamin W. Morris of New York, and Arthur J. Davis of London, noted architects.

The work of fitting out the ship will take more than a year. She will probably not make her maiden voyage before the spring of 1936.

It is anticipated that the boat will maintain a regular fortnightly service between Southampton and New York, and there is also a proposal that before she is put into service, the ship should be sent around the various ports of the British Empire, and exhibited as a wonder ship at a cost of "two bob a head."—United Press.

"And Mind You Give The Patient Baby's Own Tablets!"

Equally popular with the little ones as with their parents in tens of thousands of homes, the fame of Baby's Own Tablets continues to grow day by day. Children like them because they are pleasant to taste and cause no nausea, griping or other uncomfortable effects; parents like them because they are so easy to give, so quick and sure in their results.

Devised by a eminent child-specialist as a remedy for infantile constipation, indigestion, colic, and teething troubles, Baby's Own Tablets are equally effective to correct diarrhoea, cool feverishness, relieve cramp and colds, expel worms. And they are guaranteed absolutely safe and harmless for even the youngest babe in arms. No home where there are infants and little children should be without.

FOOTBALL RESULTS GIVE SHOCK TO NERVOUS SYSTEM SPURS MOST DISAPPOINTING TEAM OF THE YEAR BOLTON ON CREST OF A WAVE: READING START TO CLIMB

(By "Veritas").

Although a goodly number of last Saturday's results were a shock to one's nervous system, the majority of the leading teams in the English Football League retained their form and played according to expectations.

Every week now Manchester City are proving themselves a great team. It was no mean thing to visit Leicester and win by three goals to one. Certainly it will need a complete reversal of form to shift the City out of the first three during the remainder of the season.

Preston are not allowing the grass to grow under their feet. They dealt conclusively with Chelsea before their own supporters and still remain a good second to Manchester. I was not surprised to see the Arsenal held to a draw at Sheffield, for their earlier achievements this season have marked the London team as a doubtful proposition on foreign soil.

THE BURST BUBBLE.

The Spurs are without doubt the big disappointment to date. To lose at home to Villa was something quite unexpected, and the score leaves no doubt as to the decisiveness of the affair. To the biblical adage "Put not your trust in princes" might be added "Nor to any optimistic football manager in a newspaper interview." You will remember how all the critics were left satisfied just before the start of the season, that this was going to be Tottenham's Big Year in Big Football.

Bolton have now gone through seven matches without defeat or division of spoils. A nice healthy record which encourages one to support them in the future wherever they have got to lose that proud record sometime, but it is difficult to anticipate the day, and in the meantime, the best idea is to gild for them to win.

Millwall experienced this bad moment last week, but New Cross supporters are probably a little resentful that their team should suffer the indignity before their own eyes. Bristol City stick goes up, but I wonder for how long?

THE RANGERS SMILE.

Then Charlton's comparative failure against the Rovers was a bit of an upset to those who were by form. By the way, watch Reading. They are climbing steadily and are already proving themselves one of the best balanced teams in the Third Division.

Glasgow Rangers are beginning to smile. Usurped from the leadership, which had almost become theirs by divine right, by Clyde and St. Johnstone the Rangers saw their rivals lose points last week with the result the champions are once again on the pinnacle. St. Johnstone's licking was a frightful shock, and Clyde's drawn game at Aldrie was a little disconcerting to the prophets.

AUSTRIAN TEAM BEAT ORIENT

Two-Goal Arrears Wiped Out

It was a pity that only 9,000 people cared to brave the weather conditions for Clapton Orient's attractive home fixture with the Sportklub Rapid at Lea Bridge last month.

A pity, because it was a game in which fortunes changed quickly enough to sustain interest throughout, and the clash in style of the two teams afforded a further opportunity to compare the methods at home with those of Austrian rivals. The Orient swung the ball about from the start in marked contrast to

Amateur Cup Draw

Six A.F.A. teams have entered for the F.A. Cup this season, and 20 for the F.A. Amateur Cup.

St. Albans, A.F.A. Cup holders, have been drawn away to Hoddesdon in the preliminary round, first round on Oct. 6, for which round Ipswich have a bye; Merton visit Epsom in the first round, and Aquarius are away to Carshalton Athletic.

Old Owens will receive Wealdstone in the preliminary round, Old Lutymarians entertain Park Royal, and Old Lyonsians meet Southall at Harrow; while in the first round Old Finchclians have been drawn at home to Lyons, and Civil Service given choice of ground against Old Johnnians, while Ealing will be at home to the winners of the Hayes v. Pinner preliminary round tie.

"Toe H" in the first round, are at home to Baldoct. Eastbourne entertain Worthing, and Hastings and St. Leonards visit Wick in the first round.

Cambridge Town, now in the Northern and Midland Division of the tournament, have, with Moor Green (Birmingham), been exempted to the competition proper.

The close-passing game adopted by the visitors. The constant changing of the point of attack, coupled with the little extra vigour which the Orient players employed, soon had the Austrians defence in a tangle.

It came as no surprise when first Halliday and then Smith shot through to give the Londoners a two-goal lead at the interval. On changing ends a marked change came over the game. The Austrians attained a greater measure of accuracy in their passing and now it was the turn of the Orient defence to pack their goal.

Kaburek, at inside-right, was the schemer of the Austrian forwards, and he quickly made amends for his wildness in shooting earlier in the game when he beat Robertson twice in quick succession.

The Orient defence looked tired when Bleau went through to give the visitors victory.

Bradman's Condition Causes Anxiety

London, Sept. 25.

Don Bradman, the Australian cricketer, who underwent an operation this week is making but slow progress towards recovery.

The latest report to-day states that his condition continues to give considerable concern, but the early prognosis is not advanced. An earlier message stated that Bradman passed a disturbing night and that his condition is likely to create anxiety for the next two or three days.—Reuter.

FINCHER'S TENNIS WIN

In The K.C.C. Tourney

CLOSE CALL FOR HYDE AND RODGER

E. C. Fincher, (holder) advanced to the third round of the Kowloon Cricket Club singles championship yesterday, when he defeated S. A. Gray in straight sets, by scores of 6-0, 6-1, 6-2.

Fincher, who played one of his best games this year since losing to Tam Yee-fong in the Colony championship, was extremely pacy off the ground with his forehand drives, and continually scored on this hand with excellent placements. He made practically no mistakes throughout the match, and supported first rate "ground strokes" with his usual efficiency at the net. Gray found himself outplayed, especially in the first set, but towards the close maintained the rallies. Fincher was vastly superior in tactics, often drawing his opponent out of position. Both players hit strongly, but the club champion exercised the better control over his shots, and was always well on top.

HUNG'S NOBLE EFFORT.

W. C. Hung gave a magnificent performance of net play while playing with W. Zimmerman against J. Rodger and W. Hyde in the club handicap doubles yesterday. Thanks chiefly to Hung, the match went the full distance, and after three hard sets only two games separated the pairs.

Rodger and Hyde finally won 7-5, 6-7, 6-4, and it was accomplished after a match full of interesting exchanges. Hyde gave a good display of forehand driving, and Rodger supported with neat placements from the forecourt. Zimmerman lacked experience of the fast type of play served up, but he played bravely.

Hung was exceptionally good throughout and is improving every time he takes the court. Continued progress on these lines will put him in the champions class.

PETERSEN "A GOOD BOY"

Dempsey Plans For British Boxer

New York, Aug. 29.

"Petersen is a pretty good boy. If all goes well we will bring him over here in two or three months and give him a few fights. This was Jack Dempsey's remark when questioned on the report that he wished to manage Petersen on an American tour.

Dempsey added that negotiations were now in progress, but that it would probably be a few weeks before a definite decision was made. If Petersen makes the trip to the United States, Dempsey intends to match him against opponents such as Johnny Risako, the Cleveland heavy-weight, and Tommy Loughran, who "do not hit too hard."

"Then," concluded Dempsey, "if Petersen shapes up nicely we might arrange a big bout for him in England. I think that a little American experience would do him the world of good."

BACKSTROKE RECORD BROKEN BY LAU

CANTONESE TEAM WIN LAST TWO EVENTS

BUT FAIL IN EARLIER PART OF THE PROGRAMME

Despite the inclusion of three Hongkong interport and Chinese Olympic swimming stars, the Cantonese Swimming Club just failed to hold the Foreign Y.M.C.A. in the dual swimming gala which took place last week at the latter's pool. The Imcas won, scoring 35 points against the total of 28 earned by the Chinese; the latter being level right up to the final two events which they lost. The deciding races of the evening were the relay and diving and, as the "Y" took these, they were able to win by the margin of 9 points.

One pool record and another outstanding time were set by the two South China swimming stars, Lau Po Hing, the backstroke champion, negotiating the distance in 74 2/5 seconds which is 2/5 seconds better than W. Wagner's local record, but slower than Dr. Ohlwein's recent interport record of 69 4/5 seconds. Kwok Chan-hung, the Hongkong breast-stroke champion, won this event in 2 minutes 45 3/5 seconds which is exceptionally fast.

50 YARDS IS CLOSE.

The 50 yards free style proved an easy win for Grill with Smith second and Chau, third. In the 100 yards backstroke, it looked like the Cantonese taking first and second places as Kan held level with Lau for a time, but the latter soon went ahead and Kan dropped back allowing McAllister to come up in the final length and the Foreign Y.M.C.A. swimmer, by a magnificent spurt closed up, beat Kan by a touch, taking second place.

In the 100 yards free style, the three leading swimmers held level for the first three lengths, Archie Logan setting a slow pace with the result that H. See, the Chinese first string, was able to push him, and S. Starkovsky followed. Logan went out in the final length and took the lead to win in 51 seconds while See held second place five feet behind with Starkovsky third.

Kwok Chan-hung was held to level terms in the breast-stroke by Kan, his team mate, and these two established a long lead over Lamkin and Lane. The first six lengths, saw Kwok swimming strongly and maintaining the pace while Kan fell slightly but still retained a half length advantage over the two "Y" swimmers. In the twelfth length Lamkin commenced to come up and Kan tried so that in a thrilling finish, Kan was just able to stave off the "Y" swimmer, placing second by three feet while Lamkin was third.

In the 400 yards free style a fast pace was set and M. K. Sze swam exceptionally well to hold

LANCASHIRE'S CRICKET TACTICS CRITICISED

PECULIAR OPPOSITES
IN POLICYBUT WORTHILY
WON THE CHAMPIONSHIP

The special cricket correspondent of the London Morning Post, in commenting on the performance of Lancashire in winning the county cricket championship this year, writes:—

Granted that there must be a championship, it would be curious to qualify one's congratulations to the county which, in coming out top of the list, wins thirteen matches out-right and loses only three. Those who complain—and by their complaint make a certain implication—that Lancashire have, on ten occasions, won on the first innings should, rather, blame a system which by its appointment of points definitely encourages a certain method of play.

In some of their excursions into the Southern Counties, Lancashire's batting has been the reverse of popular. Force of circumstances, and perhaps a touch of ironical cussedness, had a certain amount to do with this, and it is a pity that it should have happened. As soon as it seemed that the championship would elude Lancashire, they proceeded to win matches by scoring runs at a rate not to be despised by any county. But, all of a sudden, they realised that the honours were within their grasp, and instead of plucking them up in great handfuls they laboriously set about picking them one by painful one. (And most of it happened on Southern grounds.) It was all rather like a batsman who, after an admirable innings of two-and-a-half hours, suddenly looks at the score board and sees that he has made 90. Most watchers of the game know what occurs then.

Another point is this, that when most of their leading batsmen do get runs at a satisfactory rate of scoring, they manage to conceal the fact. For they are all well aware of the stark mathematical truth that four runs towards long-leg and four pushes to mid-wicket for a single apiece count eight runs as surely as do a late cut to the boundary and an off-drive that slices past deep-extra-cover. They are also aware that they please the spectator less, and the spectator is entitled to his preferences.

WELL-BALANCED SIDE.

Without being a great side, Lancashire are a competent and a well-balanced one. There is Watson, Hopwood, Eddon, Tyndale, and Paver to make the orthodox runs, Lister and Parkinson to go for warty bowling, or by the same methods, to succeed where sedateness has failed; and Duckworth has done many a good job with the bat. Sibbles, Booth, and Pollard (who came in when Sibbles was injured) are more than useful now-ball bowlers. Eddon and Hopwood, with their left-hand slows, can either angle for the batsman from round the wicket or keep him peaceful from over it, and Parkinson, who in bowling as well as batting, has the courage of his convictions, is never fearful to pitch his leg-breaks well up. The fielding and catching have been uniformly excellent, and Duckworth is still a master among wicket-keepers. Eckerley, the captain, cannot altogether be enjoyed, his cricket these past few weeks, but he is captain of the champion county.

Warner Baxter, as he appears in "Such Women Are Dangerous", now showing at the King's Theatre. Surrounding him are Rochelle Hudson, Mona Baris and Rosemary Ames.

INTREPID BRITISH
WOMEN RIDERSGerman Killed In Six-Day
Trial

Garmish (Germany), Aug. 30. British women motor-cyclists rode intrepidly to-day in a race that was marred by tragedy. Rounding a corner at terrific speed, a German rider crashed. He died later in hospital.

It was the first fatal accident in the International Six-day Trial since 1929. To-day was the third day of the trial.

The three British women—Miss M. Cohl, Miss E. Foley and Miss Ida Crow—earned great admiration for their riding.

They succeeded in climbing the notorious Ettal without assistance, although nearly half the entire field failed to reach the summit unaided.

The struggle for the premier prize, the International Trophy, was unaltered after to-day's run. The German and Italian teams have lost no marks, while the British—team have lost only one. Czechoslovakia has lost 110 marks.

and that for the second time. Congratulations. In one respect he has been unsurpassed. A captain's primary duty is to win the toss, and Eckerley has proved himself a perfect wizard at the business of "Ump and 'Ollers."

LADY GOLFERS

Hold a Successful Meeting

The Ladies' section of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club held a most successful Autumn meeting at Deep Water Bay on Monday, September 24. Forty players took part in the Foundation Competition. This was won by Mrs. Webb, who drove at the 18th hole. Two other players reached the 17th green. The hidden prize was won by Mrs. Williamson, who finished 12 feet from the 17th hole.

A prize for the longest drive was won by Mrs. Whyte-Smith, who drove 178 yards. This was almost equalled by Mrs. Michelmore, whose ball was less than 12 inches behind.

Mrs. D. J. Valentine and Mrs. Whyte-Smith tied for the approaching and putting prize, holding three balls in nine. Mrs. Valentine got the prize.

After tea the prizes were presented by the Captain.

Members are reminded that the New Course, Fanning, is now open, and competitions will be held there in October. The Captain's Cup competition will be transferred from Happy Valley and the L. G. U. competition will take place as usual.

There is also a Medal Pool in October and a Bogey competition on October 23.

The Annual General Meeting will be held on Thursday, November 8, at 10 o'clock in the Hong Kong Club. Members will receive the Annual Report and Statement of Accounts in due course.

LAWN BOWLS
K.B.G.C. TEAM FOR SATURDAY

The following have been selected to represent the second team of the Kowloon Bowling Green Club in their league matches against the Football Club on Saturday at Happy Valley.

J. MacDonald, E. V. Seale, J. G. Charlton, E. T. Thompson (Skip).

G. Ross, C. L. Farmer, J. L. Tetley, M. J. Henderson (Skip).

H. F. Stoneham, D. W. Waterston, C. B. Hosking, J. Rodger (Skip).

CAMBRIDGESHIRE

London, Sept. 25. Lord Woolavington, owner of the Cambridgeshire favourite, Easton, said to-day he had noticed that Easton was being backed for the Cambridgeshire.

He declared that it had not yet even been decided whether the horse would run. Reuter.

ATHLETIC CONGRESS

U.S. Proposal Adopted By The Federation

Stockholm, Aug. 29. The American proposal for the establishment of new rules for hurdle races, concerning both the construction of hurdles and records, was adopted at to-day's session of the International Amateur Athletic Federation Congress. As a consequence any record will be approved even if, in the course of its being set up, a hurdle was overturned or displaced by the runner.

The American proposal for the introduction of races over 1,600 metres and 3,200 metres on the Olympic programme in place of the present 1,500 and 3,000 metres events was rejected. The Congress decided that all walking records must be set up on the track and not on the road.

FRIENDLY HOCKEY

Y.M.C.A. First Eleven
Beats St. Andrews

In a fast friendly hockey match at King's Park yesterday afternoon, the Y.M.C.A. first eleven beat St. Andrews' Club by three goals to one.

Within the first ten minutes of play the Saints scored through Colledge from a free hit by Guest just outside the circle. The Saints kept up the pressure but eventually the Y.M.C.A. equalised through G. T. Lammert and shortly after T. J. Price the skipper of the Y.M.C.A. scored the second goal.

In the second half the Saints did most of the attacking but could not find the target. The Y.M.C.A. forwards had a falling in that they ran too far forward and were constantly offside. W. T. Brown, playing at centre forward for the winners, missed an open goal but he later scored the third and last goal through a mistake by R. H. Wong.

Both teams were fairly evenly matched. D. McEllan playing at centre forward for the winners was outstanding, and Guest playing in the same position for the Saints was also good.

CAER CLARK CUP
ARRANGEMENTS.

Clubs affiliated to the Hongkong Ladies' Hockey Association will meet at Lane Crawford's Restaurant at 5.15 p.m. on Friday, October 5, to elect officers for the ensuing year and to arrange the programme for the season, including the Caer Clark Cup competition.

Pung Kam-ho, appearing before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning on charges of the theft of radiator caps from motor car No. 3511 and car No. 2739, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to four months' imprisonment. The cars were parked at the rear of a garage near the police quarters in Causeway Road. The complainants were Sub-Inspector Hopkings and Sub-Inspector Shepherd. Det-Sergt. C. Goodwin stated the defendant was arrested on information on Tuesday night.

NEW YORK STOCK
EXCHANGEIMPROVED MARKET
YESTERDAY

The following reports on the New York stock market have been received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz: The Wall Street Journal report on yesterday's markets: Stocks were upward, due to bullish business news, including the improvement in steel production, plus expectation of favourable railroad news shortly. Traders have displayed more interest. The high price of silver in London and Shanghai is attributed, in some quarters, to purchase by the United States Government. Bonds were irregular. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were strong. Wheat prices rallied, due to the overall condition of the market.

S. C. and F. New York office cables: The stock market rallied briskly in a good volume of trading on cheerful rumours as to the Administration's attitude towards business. Packing companies are raising their wages by 8%. The August net income of the first ten reporting railroad companies shows a decrease of 17% from the corresponding period of last year. The daily average production of crude oil totalled 2,549,000 barrels for the week ended September 22nd, as compared with 2,488,000 barrels the previous week. Business done: 840,000.

New York and Chicago commodity reports received through Messrs. Swan, Culbertson and Fritz: Cotton: The technical reaction was influenced by the stock market and settlement of October Notices, which leaves the market well liquidated. With uncertainty regarding a full settlement of the textile strike and the next Government estimate ahead, purchase on reactions for moderate profits appears to be advisable. "Spot" houses are absorbing near month liquidation.

Grains: The market rallied well and the cash position continues strong. We think purchasers on reactions for moderate profits are advisable. It is reported that Argentine has reduced wheat prices by 4%. This commodity is now offered at 68 J.I. Case in equivalent to $1.10, New York, duty paid.

Sugar: "Spot" sugar was firm on demand for immediate supplies, pending a clarification of the Cuban policy.

Rubber: The market was steady, but featureless.

MONGOLIAN PRINCE MURDERED

GANG ATTACK
NEAR HARBIN.

CLOSE FRIEND OF JAPAN

Harbin, Sept. 25.
A sensation has been created in Manchukuo circles by the assassination of a pro-Japanese Mongolian Prince, Chier-tu-wang, which took place at Manchukow, some distance to the south of Harbin, early yesterday morning.

The Prince was just alighting from a motor-car when he was taken by surprise by a group of gunmen, who fired at him point blank with pistols.

The Prince was struck by several shots and was instantly killed.

Two of his followers were seriously wounded.

The gunmen, who styled themselves "volunteers," managed to escape before the arrival of Manchukuo police.

According to another report, the Prince was proceeding to Changchun after completing a mission at Harbin.—Central News.

All Ready For The Interport

The Shanghai Interport polo team arrived in Hongkong this morning by the Empress of Asia, and will be seen in a practice game to-morrow on the Polo Ground at Causeway Bay.

The Interport match will be played at Causeway Bay on Saturday next, starting at 4.45 p.m. The ponies to be played in the match will be paraded at 4.30.

Amongst the passengers who arrived by the Empress of Asia to-day were Mr. J. Kewick, Mr. Geo. Potts, Mr. F. Sutcliffe, Miss A. Jacks, and Mrs. A. T. Hamilton.

JAPAN'S STAND DEFINED

C.E.R. SALE NO
PEACE SURETY

SOVIET THREAT ON FRONTIER

Tokyo, Sept. 26.
While the Russo-Japanese negotiations for the sale of the C.E.R. have made substantial headway toward successful completion, the movement toward a Russo-Japanese rapprochement is somewhat upset by a statement issued by the Japanese War Office defining its attitude toward the situation.

It declares that the improvement of Russo-Japanese relations and the consolidation of peace in the Far East depended on the immediate withdrawal of the Soviet troops from the Siberia-Manchuria border territory. The Japanese War Office did not think that the consolidation of peace in the Far East could be made possible by the success of the C.E.R. sale negotiations alone.

At the same time, the Japanese Foreign Office suggests that immediately following the signing of the agreement for the transfer of the C.E.R. the jurisdiction of the Railway should be surrendered to the Japanese-Manchukuo authorities and the Soviet employees of the C.E.R. Administration should resign en bloc.—Central News.

RAIN LATER

The anticyclone is centred over the Pacific to the east of Japan. The typhoon is increasing over China. The typhoon is situated to the west of the Ballintang Channel (about 300 miles S.E. of Hongkong) moving W.N.W. or W. Local forecast:—N.E. winds, moderate, freshening; fine to cloudy, probably rain later.

IN WIRELESS TOUCH

The following ships are expected to be in wireless communication with Hongkong to-day:—Cape St. Francis, Foylebank, Cuma, Tilkembang, Andre Lebon, Shantung, Paul Doumer, Touraine, Nankin, President Hoover, Ginyo Maru, Lisbon Maru.

WELSH DISASTER FUND

HONGKONG SOCIETY
COLLECTING

We are informed by the Hon. Secretary of St. David's Society, Hongkong, that contributions are being received from members to the Lord Mayor of London's Fund for the relief of those who are suffering as a result of the disaster at the Gresford Colliery, North Wales. These contributions will be pooled and forwarded on behalf of the Society to the Hongkong Telegraph, which has announced its willingness to receive, acknowledge and despatch donations for this purpose.

The Wrexham disaster is one of the biggest in the history of the Welsh coalfields. In it, over 260 lives were lost. The loss of breadwinners will be keenly felt, and the need for assistance great.

As indicated yesterday, in response to a request from a reader, the Telegraph is prepared to receive, acknowledge and forward to London any local contributions to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

NAVAL PARLEY ON OCT. 20

WASHINGTON ANNOUNCEMENT

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic News, Ltd., London, September 26, 1934.)

Washington, Sept. 25.
It is learned to-day that the London Naval Treaty negotiations will commence about October 20.

No statement of probable policy is announced, but there is no reason to believe that America or Britain has changed in the earlier attitude adopted towards the possible Japanese claim for naval equality.—United Press.
